A Last Farewell— The Princely Rich, Struggling Poor

By GEORGE J. MARDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Thousands of mourners filled St. Patrick's Cathedral at sunrise today in a last farewell to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. They wept, crossed themselves and some kissed his coffin in bereavement.

The princely rich whose background he shared and the struggling poor whose cause he championed came in sadness to the mighty Gothic cathedral on Fifth Avenue to pass by the closed coffin. His adopted city and the nation were saying goodbye to the assassinated senator they knew as Bobby.

A Kiss, Some Tears

Many reached out hesitantly and gently touched the coffin. Some leaned and kissed it, brushing back tears. Scores wept openly. Soulful music filled the vast church.

Grieving multitudes came in work clothes and finery. Young college students bore knapsacks.

They passed in two single files at the rate of 70 per minute. Within an hour more than 4,000 had viewed the casket.

A small, gray-haired woman in her 70's was among the thousands who filled the cathedral. As she approached the coffin, she walked in front of a huge young man, over 6 feet tall and weighing 300 pounds. He stepped back politely.

Seconds later a young man in a blue jacket and white slacks, sporting a bushy mustache and a shaggy head of hair, buried his contorted face in his palms and wept.

Pope Offers Prayers

In Vatican City, Pope Paul VI offered Mass for the repose of the soul of the 42-year-old senator slain Wednesday in Los Angeles. The pontiff celebrated the Mass in his private chapel, with only his two secretaries looking on.

But it was in St. Patrick's that the sorrow of the nation was most dramatically demonstrated.

The Mass for the dead in Kennedy's memory began at 6 a.m., at an altar some distance from the casket. As the mourners passed by the bier, the voice of a priest could be heard.

"Let us pray that God will bless Bobby Kennedy, that God will bless this nation."

"Let us pray that God will give the Kennedy family courage to endure this trying time."

The bronze doors were swung open at sunrise to permit hundreds of mourners, who stood vigil throughout the night to enter for a 5:30 a.m. Mass for the dead.

It was one of eight Masses today for the senator, slain like his brother, President John F.

Kennedy, by an assassin's bullet.

Damned by some as "a carpetbagger" when he moved to New York five years ago to run for the U.S. Senate, Kennedy today received the mournful affection of the nation's largest city.

Many Pay Respects

Today they came—from black and Spanish Harlem tenements, from Park Avenue penthouses, from joyless Coney Island. They came from New Jersey and elsewhere.

Mary Ann Camp, 30, of Oldbridge, N.J., stood silently all night in front of Fifth Avenue's fashionable boutiques, looking at the twin spires of the massive cathedral. She brought three children with her, Linda, 10; Billy, 7, and Jimmy, 5. The youngest two were lying in the warm night air on a blanket spread on the sidewalk.

"I just felt it was something I had to do," she whispered. "I wanted my children to see. I am trying to teach them to live by the rules."

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m., Saturday in the 110-year-old church. The body then will be borne by train to Washington for burial Saturday afternoon in Arlington National Cemetery.

Kennedy will be laid to rest on a grassy hillside across the Potomac River from the Lincoln Memorial, next to his brother, John.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, whose three older brothers died violently serving their country, remained in the chancery of the cathedral throughout much of the long night, kneeling beside the casket. It was grimly reminiscent of another seemingly endless night, nearly five years ago, when the body of President Kennedy was borne by presidential jet to Washington after that bleak day in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

Last Plane Trip

Now Robert Kennedy had made his last, long airplane trip. The body was borne from Los Angeles to New York Thursday. Kennedy was cut down by an assassin early Wednesday morning during the flush of victory in the California Democratic primary, a triumph that propelled him into strong contention for the presidency.

The presidential jet touched down at Marine Terminal, LaGuardia Airport. Thousands waited there—a few were friends of the family, others were among a multitude to whom Kennedy was, simply, a hero.

Things Different -- But It Seemed Same

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a different time. A different place. A different woman. A different coffin. Yet, somehow, it seemed all the same. Another Kennedy widow was bringing her assassinated husband home for the last time.

There was that set face, that slim, straight body that moved unsupported, the same solid determination that there would be in the midst of madness, some dignity.

Jacqueline, Now Ethel

What the world first saw in Jacqueline Kennedy 4½ years ago, it saw Thursday night in Ethel Kennedy and, indeed, in an entire family.

Ethel Kennedy waited within the huge silver, blue and white Air Force jet that brought her murdered husband to La Guardia Airport until after the casket bearing the body of Sen.

Robert F. Kennedy had been placed on a mechanical lift to be lowered to the ground. Then she followed.

When the bright television lights and flood lights hit her, she looked out at the crowds gathered below and smiled momentarily. It was, perhaps, a response to the photographers, a reflex of years of campaign-ing beside her husband.

Her pulse was reflected in her two eldest sons, Joseph, 15, and Robert Jr., 14, who showed no signs of faltering as they helped from the aircraft.

There was Joan, wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., arriving at La Guardia more than half an hour before the jet touched down, acting completely composed. And her husband, the only surviving son in a family which once had four sons, the first out of the aircraft front door and immediately in charge of removal of the casket.

Edward would remain with his brother through the night, alone inside an empty, dark St. Patrick's Cathedral.

But when the cathedral opened its doors to the first of thousands expected to come to pass by the coffin, friends and relatives would keep constant vigil there, four at a time in half-hour shifts.

There was Eunice, sister of the slain senator, waiting at the airport without tears. Her husband, Sargent Shriver, U.S. ambassador to France, gently circling his arm around Joan's waist as they rode up the lift to together—just in case the Kennedy composure failed.

Jean, a sister who rode the jet from Los Angeles, moved quickly and surely from the aircraft behind Ethel. And Jean's husband, Stephen Smith, campaign manager for the dead senator, also was entirely calm.

There was Pat, a sister, anxious to do what she could to help.

And then finally, there was Jacqueline, last to leave the aircraft. The great self-control of November 1963 when her husband, President John F. Kennedy, was slain, did not fail her in June 1968.

Only Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy—Rose—mother of the murdered senator and the murdered President did not meet the plane. A spokesman for the Kennedy family said she had remained in Manhattan to await her son's body at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Hunt for the 'Polka Dot Girl'; Los Angeles Grand Jury Convenes

By PAUL R. JESCHKE

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A California grand jury assembled today to consider a request for a murder indictment against Sirhan Sirhan, the accused assassin of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sheriff's officers tightened security at the Los Angeles County jail in response to telephoned threats to storm the jail and kill the 24-year-old Jordanian immigrant. They said the callers said they would risk anything—even death—to eliminate the man they believe killed Kennedy.

Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess said Sirhan, captured Wednesday morning at the Ambassador

Hotel after Kennedy was felled by a bullet in the brain, remained outwardly calm and unconcerned. The slight, swarthy race track exercise boy and health store stock clerk was confined to a 12-by-12 windowless cell in the remote hospital wing of the downtown jail.

Protect Accused

The extreme concern over keeping Sirhan alive convinced Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger to go to the grand jury for the indictment, rather than following the normal procedure of filing a formal murder complaint.

Filing a complaint necessitates a preliminary hearing, a courtroom proceeding that would have required Sirhan to be present. The grand jury method carries no such requirement.

The grand jury hearing may shed some light on growing speculation that the man who shot Kennedy may not have gone to the Ambassador Hotel election party alone.

An all-points bulletin was in effect for a young woman in a polka dot dress who ran from the primary victory celebration shortly after Kennedy was killed.

"We shot him," a campaign worker said the woman told her.

"Prior to the shooting," according to the police report, "suspect (Sirhan) was observed with a female Caucasian described as 23 to 27 years, 5 feet 6 inches tall, wearing a white voile dress with three-quarter sleeves and with small black polka dots."

Investigate Fully

"We don't think it was a conspiracy at this time," a police investigator said, "but we are not going to throw anything into the wastebasket."

Although the grand jury proceedings are officially secret, it was learned the prosecutor planned to call 17 witnesses, including assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, Kennedy's California campaign manager, and Olympic champion Rafer Johnson and football player Roosevelt Grier, the two men who disarmed and immobilized the suspect.

No members of Kennedy's immediate family were scheduled to appear.

After arraignment, Sirhan has 10 days in which to file a plea. California law requires the prosecutor to bring the defendant to trial within 60 days of his pleading, but the defense frequently wins delays.

Sirhan, a few hours after the shooting, was arraigned on six counts of assault with the intent to commit murder and bail was set at $250,000. But the senator's death automatically made it a capital case, which is not

25 Dead in Saigon Barrage From USSR-Made Rockets

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon took its worst enemy bombardment of the last five weeks early today. The Viet Cong slammed in 16 rockets which killed 25 Vietnamese civilians and wounded another 43, military officers reported.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland predicted the Viet Cong would continue its bombardment of the South Vietnamese capital "to grab headlines throughout the world by portraying a facade of aura of strength."

The outgoing commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam returned from Washington today.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced that the nightly barrage of 100-pound Russian rockets set fire to 27 houses today, destroying or damaging them. In terms of casualties and damage, it was the worst enemy shelling of Saigon since the Viet Cong began frequent bombardment of the capital 34 days ago in an apparent attempt to terrorize the population.

The barrage poured in a few hours before Westmoreland returned and some of the rockets landed close to his residence, to that of the top U.S. Navy commander and to the residence of the commander of South Korea's 48,000-man force in Vietnam.

While none of the commanders was hurt, nine houses were set afire on Westmoreland's street, seven civilians were killed and 15 more were wounded there.

Most of the rockets hit in the central part of the capital.

Sporadic street fighting continued in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section, and in the northeastern suburb of Gia Dinh.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said government troops had killed 146 of the enemy and taken 23 prisoners during the past three days in Cholon. Government casualties were reported light.

The government also announced that since May 5, when the street fighting broke out in Saigon, government forces have killed 2,778 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers and captured 313, while government losses have been 245 men killed, 933 wounded and 26 missing.

U.S. infantrymen from the 25th Division killed 32 of the enemy nine miles north of Saigon. Four Americans were killed and 16 wounded in the battle that raged until this morning.

On the northern front, fighting flared anew along the demilitarized zone.

An estimated 150 North Vietnamese troops, supported by heavy artillery, attacked U.S. Marines four miles southeast of the Khe Sanh combat base. The Marines reported 49 enemy and 13 Marines killed and 37 Americans wounded.

Near Con Thien, at the eastern end of the DMZ, North Vietnamese troops ambushed a Marine patrol, killed 14 Americans and wounded 11. Fourteen enemy soldiers were reported slain.

U.S. headquarters announced that enemy gunners shot down three American helicopters in scattered parts of the country. And said a total of seven crewmen were wounded.

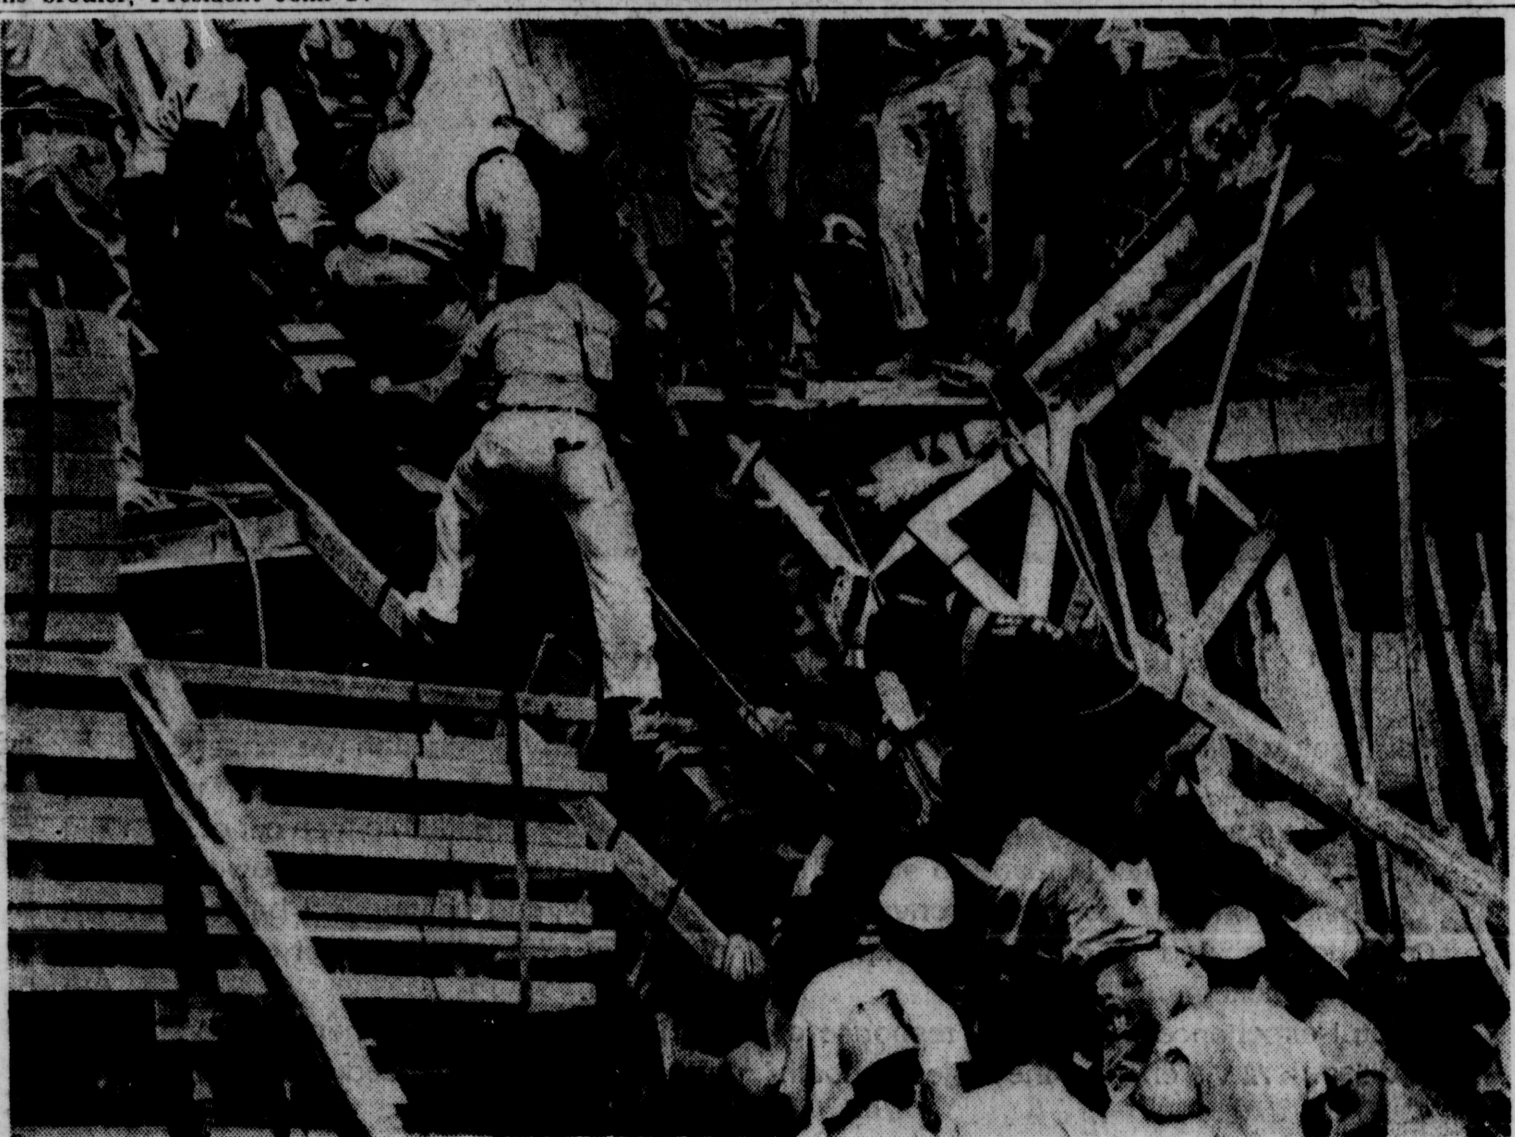

Over North Vietnam, U.S. fighter-bombers flew a total of 131 missions Thursday against enemy supply routes and traffic moving south. Navy pilots reported destroying or damaging 62 supply barges for a two-day total of 119 supply boats reported damaged or destroyed by Navy pilots.

The Air Force also took the wraps off the biggest rescue effort of the war, a three-day operation over the weekend in the southern part of North Vietnam.

A small armada of warplanes and helicopters flew 189 sorties, three planes and one pilot were lost, a number of planes and helicopters were damaged, but Navy Lt. Kenny D. Fields—the object of the operation—was rescued.

The Air Force said this brought the total number of American planes lost over North Vietnam to 848 and in combat over South Vietnam to 270.

In another of its periodic reports on aircraft losses, U.S. headquarters said a total of nine helicopters have been downed over North Vietnam, 721 helicopters have been downed in combat in South Vietnam.

Employee Contracts Okayed

2 District Vice Principals Named

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Two vice-principals were named and two employee contracts were approved at the June meeting of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated Board of Education meeting last night.

Donald H. Germain, guidance counselor at J. Watson Bailey Junior High School, was appointed to the administrative post at the new M. Clifford Miller School slated to open in September. George W. Ford, elementary physical education instructor, will assume the second in command at Myron J. Michael Junior High School.

Half-Year Negotiations
Contracts for Civil Service Employees Association and Educational Secretaries of Kingston Area were ratified unanimously by the board. Negotiations have been underway since the first of the year for the contracts covering custodial and maintenance employees and secretarial personnel. The approved agreement is for the school year 1968-69, effective July 1, 1968, and ending June 30, 1969.

Hubert Hoderath, chairman of the building committee reported that work has been delayed on both the M. Clifford Miller Junior High School and the vocational building addition but it is expected both sites will be ready for occupancy by the fall term. Much of the work at the Miller school has been completed and equipment is being received daily for installation in the new building. Heavy rains during the month of May delayed site development plans. Permanent electrical work has been installed and permanent gas installation is underway.

A Month Late

Hoderath estimated that work should be done by July 15. June 15 was the original target date.

At the vocational school there has been a one month delay caused by non delivery of countertops from the School Equipment firm of Kenmore. Hoderath urged that Ira M. Shaw, associate superintendent for school management eliminate the firm from bidders list as this is not the first time it has failed to deliver orders on time.

Change orders on finish hardware and plumbing contracts for the Miller School were approved by the board. Contractors are Joseph C. Ryan & Sons Inc. of Yonkers and Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating of Accord.

A question of the legality of board policy on granting of terminal pay was raised by board member, Milton L. Reynolds. The present terminal pay policy is based on accumulated sick leave and has been followed by the local board for a number of years. The matter was referred to Superintendent Dr. W. Wendell Hoover for further study and will be reported on at the next meeting.

Science equipment bids for the Miller school were presented by Harold E. Keator Jr., chairman of the business management committee and recommendations were approved.

Final Meeting June 28

Dates for the fiscal year-end meeting and organizational meeting were set. Final meeting of the year will be held Friday, June 28 with executive session at 7:30 p. m. and open meeting at 8:30 p. m. Due to the regular meeting date conflicting with the July 4 holiday it was decided to combine the regular meeting with the organizational meeting on July 2.

Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairman of public relations, reported a full calendar for June. Regents week will start June 17 at the high school. Report cards will be distributed when schools close June 21.

Baccalaureate will be Sunday, June 23 at 2 p. m. in the Community Theatre with graduation slated Wednesday, June 26 at 8 p. m. in Dietz Stadium.

Budget Hearing June 19

The public hearing on the school budget will be Wednesday, June 19, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the George Washington School.

A local policy for curriculum development and Multi-Media Center evaluation highlighted the superintendent's report. Dr. Hoover asked the board to adopt as policy the method of curriculum development now carried on in the Kingston Schools. Evaluation of the Multi-Media Center by World Wide Education and Research Institute of Delmar showed very favorable cost benefits to the school system and the community in general.

Germain, the newly appointed vice-principal of Miller School has been with the local school system since 1956, first teaching commercial subjects at Kingston High School and later going into guidance work in March, 1961. All of his educational training has been at State University of New York his BS degree in 1956 and his MS in guidance in 1958. He resides at 2 Kalina Drive, Rhinebeck.

Youth Admits 19 False Alarms

An arrest by Sheriff William B. Martin and Investigator Harold T. Bowers Thursday cleared up 19 false alarm calls made since early this year to Kingston Fire Department, volunteer fire companies, police agencies and ambulance services.

Vernon F. Lewis, 17, of RD 4, Kingston, was taken into custody and arraigned before Town of Ulster Justice Arthur A. Reilly. Lewis admitted to 19 false alarm calls and Justice Reilly imposed a one year jail sentence, suspended and one year probation.

Lewis was apprehended through the cooperation of Kingston Fire Chief James M. Brett and technicians of the New York Telephone Company.

The case involves false alarm calls made to Mutual Aid Fire Headquarters, Kingston Fire Department, the Sheriff's Office, Rosendale-Tilson area fire companies, Bloomington Fire Company, Binnewater Fire Company and several calls to ambulance services.

Investigator Bowers said the person calling the false alarm would call and report a serious accident with several persons killed and give the street location. Police and ambulance arrived at the scene to discover the call a hoax.

Sheriff Martin commended Bowers, Chief Brett and technicians of the New York Telephone Company for their work in breaking the case. He said it was fortunate that none of the vehicles responding to the false alarm calls were involved in traffic accidents.

Sheriff Martin said his department and the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the state police are continuing the investigation to find solutions to several other false alarm calls.

World Power, Not Police

Arthur J. Goldberg, retiring United States Ambassador to the United Nations, summed up his concept of American foreign policy as he was nearing the end of his service in the world organization. It is the very sensible position that the United States must continue to accept its responsibilities as a world power, but that it is under no compulsion to be a world policeman.

The United States should reject the illusion of isolation in a "fortress America," as well as the opposite illusion of an America that is all-powerful and all-wise, Goldberg added. His test of such a policy would be that of a great and responsible world power which seeks to foster the great aims of the United Nations.

Goldberg is under no impression that the United Nations as it is now constituted can keep peace in the world. His conception is that until the nations of the world acknowledge that the United Nations or some other impartial and effective international agency is designed to keep the peace, control national armaments, negotiate peaceful settlements, advance human rights and facilities social and economic progress, there will be no security.

A majority of Americans might grant that the above sentiments sound ideal. But as the United Nations now stands, with the veto power which the USSR uses against every forward move attempted, and with this same Red nation's use of the United Nations as an influence, espionage and propaganda vehicle, supported by United States citizens' taxes, the consensus is that the UN needs a complete overhaul to be effective or even bearable from our point of view. Nonetheless, a world forum is vital. Many small and perhaps great wars have been prevented by it.

Draft Card Burning

By upholding the 1965 law which makes it a crime to burn or otherwise destroy or mutilate a draft card, the Supreme Court rejected the plea that burning a draft card was symbolic of an expression of dissent. It held the act was not permissible under the first Amendment to the Constitution.

The 7 to 1 decision by Chief Earl Warren strongly endorsed the right of Congress to strengthen the Selective Service act under its power to raise armies in the national defense. The lone dissent, by Justice William O. Douglas, was on the ground that since there is no declaration of war, Congress had no right to bar card burning. Warren swept that argument away by saying Congress did have that right under the law.

The decision will not have wide effect. Card burning virtually came to a halt after the law was passed. Now, protestors mail their cards to their draft boards. Twenty-six were prosecuted under the 1965 law, 16 convicted, 6 await trial and 2 were dismissed when defendants were convicted of other offenses and two others were dismissed when defendants were found mentally incompetent to stand trial.

The near-unanimous vote of the court and its strong opinion in favor of the law should discourage future draft protest activity. Anti-war protestors know now they will not find a sympathetic forum if they take their cases to the Supreme Court.

Life Triumphant

Afflicted with blindness and deafness for all but the first 18 months of her long life of nearly 88 years, Helen Keller learned not only to speak and to read but to write with a grace and facility that almost made one forget her handicaps and the magnitude of her accomplishment.

In a very real way, Helen Keller was not handicapped but privileged. It is those who possess and never appreciate the senses she was denied who are the handicapped ones. From the depths of her lightless and soundless mind, she reached out and touched the world and saw and heard it more clearly than many who are unable to look beyond appearances or who have never been shorn of everything but the fundamental resources of their own inner selves.

Helen Keller's triumphant life was also the triumph of her devoted teacher, Annie Sullivan, who led a frightened and angry little girl out of the darkness of incomprehensible chaos and a loneliness impossible to imagine into a light of awareness and self-understanding.

Their story is a classic of the human spirit's refusal to submit to fate, no matter how seemingly insuperable the obstacles. It was and always will be an inspiration, not only to others similarly afflicted but to everyone who is ever told of Helen Keller.

Cyrus R. Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told Washington newsmen who asked if he thought North Vietnam was serious in the peace talks, that they have come to the table and he would assume their ultimate objective is a just and honorable peace. He is more optimistic than the negotiations so far warrant.

Heavy Industry

David Lawrence Says

Congress Must Pass Stiff Gun-Control Bill

WASHINGTON—Mob psychology breeds crime. Unstable persons are frequently incited to commit acts of violence.

America today is suffering the ill effects of an era in which large numbers of people have taken to the streets in "marches" and "demonstrations" that have led to riots and disorders with a consequent loss of life and damage to property.

The act of an apparently deranged individual, who killed Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York in the midst of enthusiastic supporters, illustrates the danger that confronts the country when passions are aroused and persons of unbalanced mentality are permitted to move around without any restraint. Hundreds of thousands of individuals have at one time or another been afflicted with mental illness, but there is no system of governmental supervision by which erratic persons are from time to time examined so that the potentially dangerous will not be allowed to possess guns or other weapons of destruction.

The American people—including non-supporters as well as supporters of the New York Senator in his bid for the Democratic Presidential nomination—are shocked by the assassination. He had been exercising his right to speak on controversial questions—national and international—but there seemingly are in all audiences nowadays persons who feel they have to use violence to give vent to their feelings.

There are many individuals

whose anger and passions are aroused by what are called activists or "militant" extremists. On Tuesday of this week, "demonstrators" besieged the Department of Justice demanding a hearing with the Attorney General of the United States. At first, he agreed to see a delegation of only 20 or 25 but later consented to meet with a group of 100. One of those in attendance said:

"Mr. Ramsey Clark, you better tell the police to get their guns ready because we're ready. For every poor person killed, ten cities are gonna burn in flames. If you think violence is going to stop us, you're wrong."

The speaker was not arrested, nor were any of the others who for more than two hours showered the nation's top law-enforcement officer with insults and threats.

Only a few days ago, moreover, the building which houses the Supreme Court of the United States—adjacent to the Capitol itself—was attacked by "demonstrators." Some of them broke windows, and more than 400 sought to force an entrance. But nothing was done about the disturbance except to put a police cordon around the building. The idea seems to be to let "demonstrators" exercise the maximum "freedom."

This has an effect on other citizens who are watchers. It will be argued that there was no "demonstration" when Senator Kennedy was attacked. The fact is, however, that mentally deranged persons with an inner desire to kill those with whom they disagree seek to destroy the life of a person at a moment when he is being applauded.

It is to be noted that nearly every one of the Presidential assassinations have occurred in public places and where crowds were surrounding the victim. President William McKinley was shaking hands with a long line of tourists at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901 when a man of anarchist background appeared with a bandaged hand. It hid a pistol, and the assassin suddenly opened fire and fatally wounded the Chief Executive.

President John F. Kennedy was driving through streets lined with cheering crowds when the opportunity came to Lee Harvey Oswald, a man of unbalanced mind, to kill the 35th President of the United States. Now the brother of the late President Kennedy has been shot in the midst of a crowd by a man who is said to have cried out: "I did it for my country."

Methods of safeguarding Presidents and other public figures in crowds have failed to be completely successful. It may be that no assured means of protection can be devised. But certainly a start could be made if the sale of guns were regulated, and if purchasers had to get a license. Requirement for this should include evidence of mental stability as well as proof of an intention to use the gun for lawful purposes.

Congress has been trying pass a gun-control law, but has not put its finger on the real issue—the ease with which guns are bought by irresponsible persons. Tolerance of misbehavior is at an incredible level. Crimes like shoplifting or thefts from hotels are almost accepted by some people as normal conduct. Some of the young publicly decry the lack of morality in their elders, and then reduce the cry to utter hypocrisy by outstealing them, cheating the airlines by falsifying their age to gain youth fares, cynically misrepresenting their physical condition to draft boards, and forging documents of all sorts with abandon.

The payment of penalty for offenses against the law is deemed by many to be something which can fairly be demanded only of the other fellow. If the call for amnesty by offending students at Columbia University seems outrageous, it should be remembered that countless Americans want a kind of permanent amnesty from charges

Drew Pearson Says Senator Kennedy's Colleagues Voted on Side of Violence

Dear George:

This morning I got up early as usual to do some work and noticed that the UPI ticker in the other room was clattering away, which so early in the morning is not usual. I went in to see what had excited it and found that Senator Robert Kennedy had been shot. Already news bulletins were coming in from around the world expressing shock and bewilderment. Some of this reaction, noting that three prominent Americans had been shot in five years, wondered why.

Have we become a nation where violence is a way of life? Other people are asking this about us. It's a question we must face.

The tragedy is that Senator Kennedy's colleagues in the Senate have not faced it. Only last month they voted on the side of violence by refusing to pass an adequate gun control bill. And only last week the House Ways and Means Committee approved a policy of spending money for war and violence and of cutting back on schools, antipoverty and the things that would keep nonviolence.

A Nation of Violence

I thought about all this as I read the news ticker reporting the tragic story of the assassination of Senator Kennedy. I wonder whether we could really defend the charge of our critics that we have become a nation of violence.

I remember the murder of Medgar Evers, the leader of the NAACP in Mississippi who was shot from ambush. The man charged with his assassination, Byron De La Beckwith, was twice tried, but the juries failed to convict. Many people in Mississippi seemed to approve the murder; so that Beckwith ran for Lieutenant Governor and rolled up a sizeable vote. His brother, Charles did not become bitter. He said the people must have love in their hearts, must rely on love not hate and he went out to work for better racial understanding.

I think that is the key point that Americans must remember today. We must live and love and work by the rule of love, not violence and hate. So far, most of us haven't done this. Of course, we can't legislate for love. Passing laws don't help much. Love has to come from being with people and working with people through schools and churches, clubs and labor unions.

But we can legislate against hate and especially against the weapons of hate. Here again we haven't done this. The Senate this spring debated a gun control bill proposed by President Johnson, but it got nowhere.

The National Rifle Association and other gun lobbyists were too strong. Members of the Senate are supposedly honorable, but some of them are also cowardly men. They put vote from pheasant hunters and sporting goods stores and rifle clubs ahead of the safety of presidents and the safety of the public. It was not that these senators condoned violence, it was that they wanted votes. So despite the assassination of President Kennedy five years before and the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King only a few days before, they voted a gun control bill which is a sham.

The man who led the fight against gun control was Senator Roman Hruska, the Nebraska Republican. He was incorrigible in his stand that the right to shoot came ahead of the right of safety. But some other Senators joined him such as George McGovern from the great pheasant state of South Dakota, Gale McGee from the big game state of Wyoming, Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf from Montana, Muskie from Maine where they hunt Moose. Nelson and Proxmire of Wisconsin.

Democratic Process in Peril

Contempt for Law, Rights Rise

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Rebels against American society find encouragement not alone in their own rising numbers but in the lessening restraints they and all Americans encounter today.

The permissiveness of parents is now an old story. It extends to them as well as to their children. Less and less is their voice heard in demand that people conform to rule and perform up to some reasonable standard.

Tolerance of misbehavior is at an incredible level. Crimes like shoplifting or thefts from hotels are almost accepted by some people as normal conduct.

Some of the young publicly decry the lack of morality in their elders, and then reduce the cry to utter hypocrisy by outstealing them, cheating the airlines by falsifying their age to gain youth fares, cynically misrepresenting their physical condition to draft boards, and forging documents of all sorts with abandon.

The payment of penalty for offenses against the law is deemed by many to be something which can fairly be demanded only of the other fellow. If the call for amnesty by offending students at Columbia University seems outrageous, it should be remembered that countless Americans want a kind of permanent amnesty from charges for traffic violation, vandalism, petty theft and similar offenses.

The worst of all this is the steady growth of the notion that to demand better of the American citizen, of whatever age, is somehow to violate the fundamental precepts of democracy.

Our democratic system does indeed seek to safeguard and dignify the individual, but its protections are in no way intended to provide a shield for behavior which transgresses the law and tramples the rights of others.

Liberty in their country is much more than the freedom to do what one wishes regardless of the consequences. It is the guarantor of the responsible free man, not the libertine who would break all convention and defy all authority. Beyond question, the system we have must be responsive to the general public will. And as the population grows, affluence increases and education flourishes more widely, that will must be fashioned from many, many more individual voices.

In a world of ever swifter change, the mechanisms of democracy may seem painfully slow and outdated. Obviously, they must be modernized to permit quicker response to an enlarged public will.

It is something else again to call for the wrecking of the system, or to make impossible demands upon it demands that either deal with matters beyond a democratic government's control or that could not be met without bringing on its own extinction.

Examples of such demands are slogans like "End Racism Now," "Abolish the Military," or "Human Dignity for All."

As Prof. James Q. Wilson of Harvard observes in a New York Times magazine article, conflict which is stirred over such demands is related mostly to symbolic values rather than to attainable specific goals.

To the extent that conflict of this sort is pressed in extreme and even violent ways, the democratic system is imperiled. For those who lay impossible demands upon it plainly seek to discredit and perhaps to destroy it.

Furthermore, extreme and violent pressure by rebels urging one set of impossible demands sooner or later will be met by some kind of counterforce by competing extremists with their own catalogue of impossible demands.

Once the balancing spirit of accommodation is weakened or lost, the minorities which must make up peaceful working majorities become warring minorities. Those who mistakenly argue that "violence works" because it sometimes seems to produce short-term gains will then learn the larger lesson that violence works only to beget violence and to wipe out the crucial values preserved by peaceful accommodation.

Leadership Problems

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—Leadership rivalries appear to be plaguing the poor people's campaign just as it promised to plague "the pharaohs in Congress" for more aid to the worst-off Americans.

Leaders of Indians and Spanish-speaking Americans have conducted separate-but-equal demonstrations, aloof from the main body of marchers under the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, Conference president, has switched field commanders and approved a step-up in the campaign pace.

Hosea Williams, 42, an old standby in the organization once headed by the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has taken over daily demonstrations. Williams replaced the Rev. Jesse Jackson, 26, who was sent to Chicago to take charge of "action cadres" in 15 major cities to support the Washington group in case its members get jailed.

Abernathy was reported to be displeased by Jackson's dramatic tactic of sending about 150 marchers to lunch at the Agriculture Department cafeteria, running up a tab of $292.66 and then not paying it. At the time, Jackson role in the campaign—leader of the hundreds of demonstrators who have so far visited Capitol Hill, the Supreme Court, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Justice Department.

Clark refused to see the large crowd of 150 or more but sent word through an aide that he would welcome a delegation of 20. The marchers rejected that compromise.

Earlier yesterday a group of Indians showed up in the lobby of the National Press Club to protest news coverage of their march on the Supreme Court last week. The Indian leaders denounced "sensationalism" and scored the absence of concern with real problems of poverty.

A Spanish-speaking group visited the Embassy of Mexico under the leadership of Reyes Tijerina, the super-militant leader from the southwest. He wanted to complain about alleged violations of an 1848 treaty whereby descendants of Spanish settlers were granted land rights in what is now the United States. The big "Solidarity Day" march set for June 19 is in the hands of another leader, also outside SCLC, Bayard Rustin of New York City. He has conferred with Clark and Abernathy but appears to have power to act without a veto from the campaign leaders.

World Power, Not Police

Arthur J. Goldberg, retiring United States Ambassador to the United Nations, summed up his concept of American foreign policy as he was nearing the end of his service in the world organization. It is the very sensible position that the United States must continue to accept its responsibilities as a world power, but that it is under no compulsion to be a world policeman.

The United States should reject the illusion of isolation in a "fortress America," as well as the opposite illusion of an America that is all-powerful and all-wise, Goldberg added. His test of such a policy would be that of a great and responsible world power which seeks to foster the great aims of the United Nations.

Goldberg is under no impression that the United Nations as it is now constituted can keep peace in the world. His conception is that until the nations of the world acknowledge that the United Nations or some other impartial and effective international agency is designed to keep the peace, control national armaments, negotiate peaceful settlements, advance human rights and facilities social and economic progress, there will be no security.

A majority of Americans might grant that the above sentiments sound ideal. But as the United Nations now stands, with the veto power which the USSR uses against every forward move attempted, and with this same Red nation's use of the United Nations as an influence, espionage and propaganda vehicle, supported by United States citizens' taxes, the consensus is that the UN needs a complete overhaul to be effective or even bearable from our point of view. Nonetheless, a world forum is vital. Many small and perhaps great wars have been prevented by it.

Draft Card Burning

By upholding the 1965 law which makes it a crime to burn or otherwise destroy or mutilate a draft card, the Supreme Court rejected the plea that burning a draft card was symbolic of an expression of dissent. It held the act was not permissible under the first Amendment to the Constitution.

The 7 to 1 decision by Chief Earl Warren strongly endorsed the right of Congress to strengthen the Selective Service act under its power to raise armies in the national defense. The lone dissent, by Justice William O. Douglas, was on the ground that since there is no declaration of war, Congress had no right to bar card burning. Warren swept that argument away by saying Congress did have that right under the law.

The decision will not have wide effect. Card burning virtually came to a halt after the law was passed. Now, protestors mail their cards to their draft boards. Twenty-six were prosecuted under the 1965 law, 16 convicted, 6 await trial and 2 were dismissed when defendants were convicted of other offenses and two others were dismissed when defendants were found mentally incompetent to stand trial.

The near-unanimous vote of the court and its strong opinion in favor of the law should discourage future draft protest activity. Anti-war protestors know now they will not find a sympathetic forum if they take their cases to the Supreme Court.

Life Triumphant

Afflicted with blindness and deafness for all but the first 18 months of her long life of nearly 88 years, Helen Keller learned not only to speak and to read but to write with a grace and facility that almost made one forget her handicaps and the magnitude of her accomplishment.

In a very real way, Helen Keller was not handicapped but privileged. It is those who possess and never appreciate the senses she was denied who are the handicapped ones. From the depths of her lightless and soundless mind, she reached out and touched the world and saw and heard it more clearly than many who are unable to look beyond appearances or who have never been shorn of everything but the fundamental resources of their own inner selves.

Helen Keller's triumphant life was also the triumph of her devoted teacher, Annie Sullivan, who led a frightened and angry little girl out of the darkness of incomprehensible chaos and a loneliness impossible to imagine into a light of awareness and self-understanding.

Their story is a classic of the human spirit's refusal to submit to fate, no matter how seemingly insuperable the obstacles. It was and always will be an inspiration, not only to others similarly afflicted but to everyone who is ever told of Helen Keller.

Cyrus R. Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator at Paris, told Washington newsmen who asked if he thought North Vietnam was serious in the peace talks, that they have come to the table and he would assume their ultimate objective is a just and honorable peace. He is more optimistic than the negotiations so far warrant.

David Lawrence Says Congress Must Pass Stiff Gun-Control Bill

WASHINGTON — Mob psychology breeds crime. Unstable persons are frequently incited to commit acts of violence.

America today is suffering the ill effects of an era in which large numbers of people have taken to the streets in "marches" and "demonstrations" that have led to riots and disorders with a consequent loss of life and damage to property.

The act of an apparently deranged individual, who killed Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York in the midst of enthusiastic supporters, illustrates the danger that confronts the country when passions are aroused and persons of unbalanced mentality are permitted to move around without any restraint.

Hundreds of thousands of individuals have at one time or another been afflicted with mental illness, but there is no system of governmental supervision by which erratic persons are from time to time examined so that the potentially dangerous will not be allowed to possess guns or other weapons of destruction.

The American people—including non-supporters as well as supporters of the New York Senator in his bid for the Democratic Presidential nomination—are shocked by the assassination. He had been exercising his right to speak on controversial questions—national and international—but there seemingly are in all audiences nowadays persons who feel they have to use violence to give vent to their feelings.

There are many individuals

whose anger and passions are aroused by what are called activists or "militant" extremists. On Tuesday of this week, "demonstrators" besieged the Department of Justice demanding a hearing with the Attorney General of the United States. At first, he agreed to see a delegation of only 20 or 25 but later consented to meet with a group of 100. One of those in attendance said:

"Mr. Ramsey Clark, you better tell the police to get their guns ready because we're ready. For every poor person killed, ten cities are gonna burn in flames. . . . If you think violence is going to stop us, you're wrong."

The speaker was not arrested, nor were any of the others who for more than two hours showered the nation's top law-enforcement officer with insults and threats.

Only a few days ago, moreover, the building which houses the Supreme Court of the United States—adjacent to the Capitol itself—was attacked by "demonstrators." Some of them broke windows, and more than 400 sought to force an entrance. But nothing was done about the disturbance except to put a police cordon around the building. The idea seems to be to let "demonstrators" exercise the maximum "freedom."

This has an effect on other citizens who are watchers. It will be argued that there was no "demonstration" when Senator Kennedy was attacked. The fact is, however, that mentally deranged persons with an inner desire to kill those with whom they disagree seek to destroy the life of a person at a moment when he is being applauded.

It is to be noted that nearly every one of the Presidential assassinations have occurred in public places and where crowds were surrounding the victim. President William McKinley was shaking hands with a long line of tourists at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., in 1901 when a man of anarchist background appeared with a bandaged hand. It hid a pistol, and the assassin suddenly opened fire and fatally wounded the Chief Executive.

President John F. Kennedy was driving through streets lined with cheering crowds when the opportunity came to Lee Harvey Oswald, a man of unbalanced mind, to kill the 35th President of the United States. Now the brother of the late President Kennedy has been shot in the midst of a crowd by a man who is said to have cried out: "I did it for my country."

Methods of safeguarding Presidents and other public figures in crowds have failed to be completely successful. It may be that no assured means of protection can be devised. But certainly a start could be made if the sale of guns were regulated, and if purchasers had to get a license. Requirement for this should include evidence of mental stability as well as proof of an intention to use the gun for lawful purposes.

Congress has been trying pass a gun-control law, but has not put its finger on the real issue—the ease with which guns are bought by irresponsible persons.

"Those barbers," the candidate said, "they can clip you good. That's a joke, Doc."

"What about the long hot summer?" The Negroes are going to have to learn to stop clearing those slums out with candles. It's unsanitary. The looting is something else again. Looting is politics in its purest form. "Got any more issues?" "Yes. The campus riots." "Indeed, I forgot about that. What do you propose to do about the universities?" "That's a cinch. Abolish the faculty and the kids have nothing to fight."

"What about policemen?" "They're all going to Vietnam as tourists." "That all?" "Nope. I'm eradicating Texas. Henceforth it will be known as Oklahoma South." "I enjoy listening to you." "At 50 a listen? You should." "How do you feel?" "Much better. I always feel better when I'm doing the talking. When I get in I'm abolishing North, east, south and west." "Yeah. Why?" "Gets everybody confused. Nobody knows which way they are." "Good idea. Now, before I give you your blanket back, please pay the fee." The candidate smiled. "You strike a hard bargain, Doc. Here's your money."

The candidate put his coat on. It was twelve-thirty. He shook hands with the psychiatrist. "You gonna vote for me, Doc?" The physician stiffened. "You think I'm nuts?" he said. . . .

Drew Pearson Says Senator Kennedy's Colleagues Voted on Side of Violence

Dear George:

This morning I got up early as usual to do some work and noticed that the UPF ticker in the other room was clattering away, which so early in the morning is not usual. I went in to see what had excited it and found that Senator Robert Kennedy had been shot. Already news bulletins were coming in from around the world expressing shock and bewilderment. Some of this reaction, noting that three prominent Americans had been shot in five years, wondered why.

Have we become a nation where violence is a way of life? Other people are asking this about us. It's a question we must face.

The tragedy is that Senator Kennedy's colleagues in the Senate have not faced it. Only last month they voted on the side of violence by refusing to pass an adequate gun control bill. And only last week the House Ways and Means Committee approved a policy of spending money for war and violence and of cutting back on schools, antipoverty and the things that would keep nonviolence.

A Nation of Violence

I thought about all this as I read the news ticker reporting the tragic story of the assassination of Senator Kennedy. I wonder whether we could really defend the charge of our critics that we have become a nation of violence.

I remember the murder of Medgar Evers, the leader of the NAACP in Mississippi who was shot from ambush. The man charged with his assassination, Byron De La Beckwith, was twice tried, but the juries failed to convict. Many people in Mississippi seemed to approve the murder; so that Beckwith ran for Lieutenant Governor and rolled up a sizeable vote. His brother, Charles did not become bitter. He said the people must have love in their hearts, must rely on love not hate and he went out to work for better racial understanding.

I think that is the key point that Americans must remember today. We must live and love and work by the rule of love, not violence and hate. So far, most of us haven't done this. Of course, we can't legislate for love. Passing laws don't help much. Love has to come from being with people and working with people through schools and churches, clubs and labor unions.

But we can legislate against hate and especially against the weapons of hate. Here again we haven't done this. The Senate this spring debated a gun control bill proposed by President Johnson, but it got nowhere.

The National Rifle Association and other gun lobbyists were too strong. Members of the Senate are supposedly honorable, but some of them are also cowardly men. They put vote from pheasant hunters and sporting goods stores and rifle clubs ahead of the safety of presidents and the safety of the public. It was not that these senators condoned violence, it was that they wanted votes. So despite the assassination of President Kennedy five years before and the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King only a few days before, they voted a gun control bill which is a sham.

The man who led the fight against gun control was Senator Roman Hruska, the Nebraska Republican. He was incorrigible in his stand that the right to shoot came ahead of the right of safety. But some other Senators joined him such as George McGovern from the great pheasant state of South Dakota, Gale McGee from the big game state of Wyoming, Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf from Montana, Muskie from Maine where they hunt Moose, Nelson and Proxmire of Wisconsin.

Less than 24 hours later, however, Abernathy appeared with the money, in cash, to settle the account.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was reported to have threatened to prosecute Jackson unless the bill was paid promptly. A Justice Department spokesman declined to comment on the report.

At any rate, Williams has taken over the most visible role in the campaign—leader of the hundreds of demonstrators who have so far visited Capitol Hill, the Supreme Court, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Justice Department.

Keating, Reid Possibles For Kennedy's Senate Seat

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — When Gov. Rockefeller turns to his sad duty of appointing a successor to U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the names of former Sen. Kenneth E. Keating and U.S. Rep. Ogden R. Reid may be prominent among those discussed in connection with the Senate seat.

The names of Keating and Reid were raised Thursday during speculation over whom Rockefeller will name to succeed the slain senator.

Private Reflections

While the Republican governor and other political leaders decline to discuss the impending appointment publicly, there was substantial private reflection on the subject at the Capitol.

Nonetheless, Rockefeller's press secretary, Leslie Slat, told The Associated Press that the governor had "given no thought" to a successor for Kennedy.

Under law, the governor is required to fill the vacant seat by appointment, although the law does not prescribe when he must act.

Customarily, governors of New York and other states have waited at least until after the funeral of deceased senators before acting.

Keating's name was among the first mentioned. The suggestion was that Rockefeller might wish to return him to the seat that Kennedy wrested from him in the 1964 election. Keating later was elected to the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, but has only two years to serve before reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Reid, who represents a Westchester district, has been personally close to Rockefeller years and has occasionally advised him on political matters.

The 43-year-old congressman who served as president of the old New York Herald Tribune is known to be interested in attaining higher office.

'Just Don't Do That'

One possibility posed during speculation was that Rockefeller might appoint a Democrat to succeed Kennedy. But high-ranking individuals in the GOP privately reject the notion. "You just don't do that," said one.

It also seems highly unlikely that Rockefeller would name himself to the Senate. The governor has said more than once that he prefers what he sees as the wider possibilities for "getting things done" in an executive role.

Beyond Reid and Keating, there is no shortage of potential appointees.

One name suggested by a top Republican was that of Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who has served in the Rockefeller shadow for 10 years, hoping to move up to the governorship. Persons in a position to know his thinking on the subject, say, however, that he prefers to continue biding his time with an eye on the governorship.

On the other hand, Wilson's Senate colleague, Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges of Niagara Falls, would want to be considered, according to knowledgeable Republican sources. On the Assembly side, Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea also was reported to be available.

Garage Visit Is Planned by Bay State Jury

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A jury of 14 men and two women today was scheduled to visit the Williamstown garage where Bonnie Pearson, 19, of Newport, N.H., was found dead last August.

The panel was completed Thursday in the retrial of Bruce McConnell, 21, of North Adams. He is charged with murder.

The first trial ended in a mistrial when McConnell's lawyer asked to be excused because of his wife's illness.

Berkshire Superior Court officials said the jury is the first in the country to have women jurors sitting on a capital case.

Opening statements are expected Monday.

Judge Thomas J. O'Malley ordered the jury locked up for the duration of the trial.

— Robert R. Douglass, the governor's legal counsel, who is now serving as his presidential

the control of City Hall to Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, the City Council president.

In any event, the person chosen by Rockefeller will serve the remainder of Kennedy's term, which ends Dec. 31, 1970. A senator would be elected for a new, six-year term in November 1970, to take office in January 1971.

Gun Control Bill-- Not Far Enough: LBJ

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, speaking in the wake of a new Kennedy assassination, has told Congress that 55 long months after the mail-order murder of President John F. Kennedy, it is time in the name of an aroused nation to give America the gun-control law it needs, Johnson said.

Rifles, Shotguns Also

He served notice Thursday that a measure passed by both Senate and House and now on his desk doesn't go far enough because it bans the mail-order sales only of pistols. He wants the ban to apply to rifles and shotguns as well.

When it was in the Senate, such proponents of the tougher provision as Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., lost in their bid to include rifles and shotguns.

Two of Dodd's staunchest allies in that losing cause were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose brother was assassinated with a mail-order rifle five years ago, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose only surviving brother—Robert—was assassinated with a pistol two days ago.

"So, I call upon the Congress in the name of sanity, in the name of safety—and in the name of an aroused nation—to give America the gun-control law it needs," Johnson said.

The House passed the pistols-only provision Thursday and Johnson issued his statement shortly afterward. He did not indicate whether he would sign the provision.

Two Urge Veto

Two congressmen urged him to veto it; another said he would propose next week a House vote on a measure to ban mail-order rifle and shotgun sales.

The only House vote this week on the issue concerned the pistols provision because that is the way the bill came from the Senate.

The gun-control proposal has been a matter of controversy on Capitol Hill for seven years but is only one of several controversial issues in the legislation sent to Johnson.

It is a sweeping crime-control bill that also would give police wiretapping and "bugging" powers regarding some suspects. Another provision is aimed at removing Supreme Court restriction on police use of confessions.

Point to Questions

The bill also would provide substantial federal aid to help local and state police improve efficiency. The President has expressed support only for full gun-control and the police aid provision. He proposed the latter, Sen. Edward Kennedy sponsored the rejected amendment for complete gun-control. Opponents of the wiretap and confessions provisions have contended they raise serious constitutional questions.

An Escape

Former Astronaut John Glenn, who is taking care of some of the Robert F. Kennedy children at Hickory Hill, McLean, Va., the family estate, plays tough football with 10-year-old Michael Kennedy. Meanwhile, the body of the late N.Y. Senator was returned last night from Los Angeles. It will lie in state today at St. Patrick's Cathedral. On Saturday, following a requiem Mass, it will be taken to Washington by train for burial in Arlington Cemetery. (UPI Telephoto.)

Keating, Reid Possibles For Kennedy's Senate Seat

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — When Gov. Rockefeller turns to his sad duty of appointing a successor to U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the names of former Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and U.S. Rep. Ogden R. Reid may be prominent among those discussed in connection with the Senate seat.

The names of Keating and Reid were raised Thursday during speculation over whom Rockefeller will name to succeed the slain senator.

Private Reflections

While the Republican governor and other political leaders decline to discuss the impending appointment publicly, there was substantial private reflection on the subject at the Capitol.

Nonetheless, Rockefeller's press secretary, Leslie Sloc, told The Associated Press that the governor had "given no thought" to a successor for Kennedy.

Under law, the governor is required to fill the vacant seat by appointment, although the law does not prescribe when he must act.

Customarily, governors of New York and other states have waited at least until after the funeral of deceased senators before acting.

Keating's name was among the first mentioned. The suggestion was that Rockefeller might wish to return him to the seat that Kennedy wrested from him in the 1964 election. Keating later was elected to the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, but has only two years to serve before reaching the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Reid, who represents a Westchester district, has been personally close to Rockefeller years and has occasionally advised him on political matters.

The 43-year-old congressman who served as president of the old New York Herald Tribune is known to be interested in attaining higher office.

'Just Don't Do That'

One possibility posed during speculation was that Rockefeller might appoint a Democrat to succeed Kennedy. But high-ranking individuals in the GOP privately reject the notion. "You just don't do that," said one.

It also seems highly unlikely that Rockefeller would name himself to the Senate. The governor has said more than once that he prefers what he sees as the wider possibilities for "getting things done" in an executive role.

Beyond Reid and Keating, there is no shortage of potential appointees.

One name suggested by a top Republican was that of Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who has served in the Rockefeller shadow for 10 years, hoping to move up to the governorship. Persons in a position to know his thinking on the subject, say, however, that he prefers to continue biding his time with an eye on the governorship.

On the other hand, Wilson's Senate colleague, Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges of Niagara Falls, would want to be considered, according to knowledgeable Republican sources. On the Assembly side, Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea also was reported to be available.

Otherwise, the list of possibilities

Garage Visit Is Planned by Bay State Jury

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A jury of 14 men and two women today was scheduled to visit the Williamstown garage where Bonnie Pearson, 19, of Newport, N.H., was found dead last August.

The panel was completed Thursday in the retrial of Bruce McConnell, 21, of North Adams. He is charged with murder.

The first trial ended in a mistrial when McConnell's lawyer asked to be excused because of his wife's illness.

Berkshire Superior Court officials said the jury is the first in the country to have women jurors sitting on a capital case.

Opening statements are expected Monday.

Judge Thomas J. O'Malley ordered the jury locked up for the duration of the trial.

— Republican State Sen. Edward J. Speno of East Meadow, former head of the Nassau County GOP.

— John P. Lomenzo, of Rochester, secretary of state under Rockefeller.

— Robert K. Douglass, the governor's legal counsel, who is now serving as his presidential campaign manager.

— Alexander A. (Sam) Aldrich, Rockefeller's cousin, who ran for Congress unsuccessfully two years ago.

While observers agreed that New York Mayor John V. Lindsay rated consideration, it seemed highly unlikely that he would be named. For Rockefeller to do so, would be to yield the control of City Hall to Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, the City Council president.

In any event, the person chosen by Rockefeller will serve the remainder of Kennedy's term, which ends Dec. 31, 1970. A senator would be elected for a new, six-year term in November 1970, to take office in January 1971.

Gun Control Bill-- Not Far Enough: LBJ

By ROBERT A. HUNT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, speaking in the wake of a new Kennedy assassination, has told Congress that "55 long months after the mail-order murder of President John F. Kennedy," it is time in the name of sanity for a tough gun-control law.

Rifles, Shotguns Also

He served notice Thursday that a measure passed by both Senate and House and now on his desk doesn't go far enough because it bans the mail-order sales only of pistols. He wants the ban to apply to rifles and shotguns as well.

When it was in the Senate, such proponents of the tougher provision as Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., lost in their bid to include rifles and shotguns.

Two of Dodd's staunchest allies in that losing cause were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose brother was assassinated with a mail-order rifle five years ago, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, whose only surviving brother—Robert—was assassinated with a pistol two days ago.

"So, I call upon the Congress in the name of sanity, in the name of safety—and in the name of an aroused nation—to give America the gun-control law it needs," Johnson said.

The House passed the pistols-only provision Thursday and Johnson issued his statement shortly afterward. He did not indicate whether he would sign the provision.

Two Urge Veto

Two congressmen urged him to veto it; another said he would propose next week a House vote on a measure to ban mail-order rifle and shotgun sales.

The only House vote this week on the issue concerned the pistols provision because that is the way the bill came from the Senate.

The gun-control proposal has been a matter of controversy on Capitol Hill for seven years but is only one of several controversial issues in the legislation sent to Johnson.

It is a sweeping crime-control bill that also would give police wiretapping and "bugging" powers regarding some suspects. Another provision is aimed at removing Supreme Court restriction on police use of confessions.

Point to Questions

The bill also would provide substantial federal aid to help local and state police improve efficiency. The President has expressed support only for full gun-control and the police aid provision. He proposed the latter; Sen. Edward Kennedy sponsored the rejected amendment for complete gun-control.

Opponents of the wiretap and confessions provisions have contended they raise serious constitutional questions.

An Escape

Ulster Adopts Dog Ordinance

An ordinance restricting dogs from running at large and placing responsibility of damage on the owners was adopted at Thursday night's meeting of Ulster Town Board held at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The ordinance is in entirety will be published in The Freeman early next week and becomes effective 10 days after publication and posting.

The Penalties

Penalties for violations include the following: First offense not less than $10 fine and not more than $25; second offense, at least $15 fine and not over $50 or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both.

A public hearing was held prior to the regular meeting on an ordinance formerly approving the formation of the Whittier Sewer District. There was no opposition and the ordinance was approved by Town Board action.

Approval validates the district's establishment making the district eligible for one-third state aid for operation and maintenance.

Only one bid was received for the purchase of 6½-acre of surplus property in the Whittier Sewer District. The bid of $775 was rejected. No further action is contemplated on the sale of the land, the supervisor said today.

Letters were read from Edgar P. Elliott, town highway superintendent and Francis Mulvaney, Town Planning Board chairman, recommending the acceptance of dedicatory deeds by the town for roads in Section 9 of William Zang's development. Our Homes Inc. The streets included in the proposal, all in the Spring Lake area of the development are Virginia Drive, Laine Lane, Stephen Road, Kerry Lane, and a portion of Arnold Drive. Personal property placed in escrow by Zang was released by the town.

$265,410 Permits

Building Inspector Joseph Oiberling reported building permits in the amount of $265,410 for new construction and alterations during April were issued.

The Town Board discussed the condition of the Orlando Street brook and subsequently authorized Supervisor Musialkiewicz and Highway Superintendent Elliott to have the brook cleared to improve the flow.

Following discussion of the new school opening in September at Lake Katrine, the board agreed the town should take whatever measures are needed to protect the pupils who must walk along county and town highways, some for 1½ miles, to the new school. A temporary measure will be the posting of school guards at strategic intersections.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz was granted permission to attend the State Supervisors Association conference June 24-26 at Coopers town.

The meeting closed in memory of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a moment of silence was observed.

Set Public Hearing For Glasco District

A public hearing is scheduled for June 27 at 8 p. m. at Glasco Fire Hall on the proposed improvements to Glasco Water District estimated to cost $280,300 including installation of larger water mains and a new standpipe.

The hearing was announced at Thursday night's Saugerties Town Board meeting held in Town Hall. If approved the town will advertise for bids for the work.

Supervisor A. Michael Schovel reported that the town will now receive 5 per cent interest on town funds in interest bearing accounts in a local bank for amounts of $5,000 or more. Previously the town received 4½ per cent. Schovel also said that the town was offered 5½ per cent on $100,000 or more on deposit. The 5 per cent offer was for funds on deposit for three months or more, the 5½ per cent interest is for deposit for a period of one year or more.

If you just bought a Volkswagen, don't read what Road Test magazine said.

Why aggravate yourself? Road Test magazine just did a 68-page comparison of the top 10 economy imports, including the bug. They named Renault 10 "most for the money" for the second year in a row. One reason they gave was the Renault 10 automatic transmission, which gives you 34.8 miles to the gallon.* The VW gives you 23.5.* If you want more reasons, come in for your free copy of Road Test. And a road test of your own. Unless you just bought a bug and don't need the aggravation.

Ulster Adopts Dog Ordinance

An ordinance restricting dogs from running at large and placing responsibility of damage on the owners was adopted at Thursday night's meeting of Ulster Town Board held at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The ordinance is in entirety will be published in The Freeman early next week and becomes effective 10 days after publication and posting.

The Penalties

Penalties for violations include the following: First offense not less than $10 fine and not more than $25; second offense, at least $15 fine and not over $150 or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days, or both. A public hearing on the proposed ordinance was held April 29.

Town Highway Department and other employees were granted a 25 cent per hour wage increase starting June 10. Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said he had contacted the State Department of Audit and Control and received their approval of the wage increase proposal. The supervisor also said the board is continuing its study on the establishment of a retirement system for town employees.

A public hearing was held prior to the regular meeting on an ordinance formerly approving the formation of the Whittier Sewer District. There was no opposition and the ordinance was approved by Town Board action.

Approval validates the district's establishment making the district eligible for one-third state aid for operation and maintenance.

Only one bid was received for the purchase of 6½ acres of surplus property in the Whittier Sewer District. The bid of $775 was rejected. No further action is contemplated on the sale of the land, the supervisor said today.

Letters were read from Edgar P. Elliott, town highway superintendent and Francis Mulvaney, Town Planning Board chairman, recommending the acceptance of dedicatory deeds by the town for roads in Section 9 of William Zang's development. Our Homes Inc. The streets included in the proposal, all in the Spring Lake area of the development are Virginia Drive, Laine Lane, Stephen Road, Kerry Lane, and a portion of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a moment of silence was observed.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz was granted permission to attend the State Supervisors Association conference June 24-26 at Cooperstown.

The meeting closed in memory of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and a moment of silence was observed.

Meditation Guest

The Rev. Olney Cook, retired Lutheran pastor, will be the guest speaker for Morning Meditations on WGHQ, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning at 6:15 this coming week.

The program is sponsored by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association.

Set Public Hearing For Glasco District

A public hearing is scheduled for June 27 at 8 p. m. at Glasco Fire Hall on the proposed improvements to Glasco Water District estimated to cost $280,300 including installation of larger water mains and a new standpipe.

The hearing was announced at Thursday night's Saugerties Town Board meeting held in Town Hall. If approved the town will advertise for bids for the work.

Supervisor A. Michael Schovel reported that the town will now receive 5 per cent interest on town funds in interest bearing accounts in a local bank for amounts of $5,000 or more. Previously the town received 4½ per cent. Schovel also said that the town was offered 5½ per cent on $100,000 or more on deposit. The 5 per cent offer was for funds on deposit for three months or more, the 5½ per cent interest is for deposit for a period of one year or more.

Arthur Sperl, local refuse collector complained he was not permitted to dump tree stumps at the town dump. Town Attorney Louis P. Francello said he would check the contract with the owner of the property, Albert Cashdollar of Woodstock.

The board approved an application with the state for recreation funds under the State Youth Commission program. The town will spend $3,200 for recreation and would receive aid in the amount of $1,600.

The 120th Infantry Regiment Association was granted $200 on a request by Edward Van Gaasbeck to cover expenses of the organization's annual North-South Skirmish held during the summer.

As for Mettacaohis, the transportation department declared the area was dotted with some summer camps, a few year-round homes, and two small grocery stores, and that the physical characteristics of the area precluded high speed.

The department suggested that the town install curve warning signs.

Supervisor Franklin S. Kelder announced that both Richard H. Davis and Phillip Davis had resigned from the town's zoning commission.

The supervisor offered the names of Sam Kates and William Anderson to fill the slots and the board gave its unanimous approval on the motion.

Sixty-eight residents of the Pataukunk-Clay Hill and Timothy Estates area filed a petition with the board urging that the officials "reject and vote against" any proposed water district in the area.

Ambulance To New Site

Saugerties Ambulance Service will now be operating out of a former service station located on the corner of Washington Avenue and Main Street in the village.

The leasing of the property was arranged through Lloyd Newcombe, president of Amos Post Inc. The fuel oil company is the owner of the property.

According to Clifford Jones, secretary-treasurer of the ambulance service, the lease "is capable of being fulfilled by the ambulance service."

The private ambulance firm had been operating from the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home, located at 25 Ulster Avenue, and Ted's Esso Station on the Saugerties-Woodstock Road.

A cease and desist order had been issued to the service after area residents complained that the firm was violating village zoning regulations.

If you just bought a Volkswagen, don't read what Road Test magazine said.

Why aggravate yourself? Road Test magazine just did a 68-page comparison of the top 10 economy imports, including the bug. They named Renault 10 "most for the money" for the second year in a row. One reason they gave was the Renault 10 automatic transmission, which gives you 34.8 miles to the gallon.* The VW gives you 23.5.* If you want more reasons, come in for your free copy of Road Test. And a road test of your own. Unless you just bought a bug and don't need the aggravation.

Shop-Rite — Awards Venet

The Shop-Rite Fellowship Club, an organization of Shop-Rite personnel and food manufacturer representatives, presented a special award to Zal Venet, president of Venet Advertising, at its recent dinner dance. The award, presented by Charles Stephan, last year's club president, was in appreciation for services the agency had performed for the club.

The Shop Rite Fellowship Club was founded in 1961 as a social organization for members of the Shop-Rite Cooperative, and representatives of food manufacturers and brokers who worked directly in the stores preparing for grand openings and special events.

The group also supports a number of charitable projects, particularly the Egenolf Day Nursery, which they provide with educational toys and samples.

Community Room Is Feature For Bank's Bonanza Branch

A 24x48 foot community room will be one of the features of the Kingston Savings Bank's new Bonanza Branch office now under construction in the town of Ulster.

This and other details of the interior plans were revealed by Lloyd R. LeFever, bank president, and Herbert P. Mayer, architect.

The large room, which will be available for bank meetings and community use, can be divided with folding wood doors. A small but complete kitchen off the community room will serve the needs of bank employees for lunch and will also be available for use by those using the community room for meetings after banking hours.

In the main banking room the tellers' counter will be white with panels of blue. The back counter will be a soft grey-blue. The ceiling will be spaced redwood boards with a natural oiled finish. The floor will be covered with a grey-green velvet carpet.

The source of light will be hidden by covers on the beams, which are dropped below the ceilings. The walls will be painted off-white.

A feature of the vault room will be the vault with walls of rough textured concrete inside and outside. The vault door will be polished steel with the bolts and locking mechanism exposed to view. These will be plainly visible from the main banking room, adding to the sense of strength and security which the architect believes the customers expect in a bank.

Wickes Income Reflects Gain, Sales Increase

Daniel M. Fitz-Gerald, president and chief executive officer of The Wickes Corporation, announced today that net income for the thirteen weeks ended April 27 was $1,391,000, or 31 cents a share, compared to $1,241,000, or 26 cents a share, in the like period a year ago. This is an increase of 12 per cent.

Net sales for the thirteen weeks ended April 27, 1968, were $66,974,000, up 13 per cent from the net sales of the $59,156,000 in the first quarter of the prior year.

The Lumber and Building Supplies Division accounted for 77 per cent of the first quarter sales and Agricultural and Manufacturing activities for 23 per cent. Lumber and Building Supplies accounted for 76 per cent of the sales of the same quarter a year earlier.

A quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share was paid March 8, 1968, to shareholders of record February 15, 1968. On April 25, 1968, the Board of Directors approved a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share payable June 10, 1968, to shareholders of record May 15, 1968.

Hershey: Leaders, Not Scientists Vital

TROY, N.Y. (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the nation's Selective Service director, said Thursday night the "world now needs leaders more than scientists-character more than knowledge."

Milk Producers Elect

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Fresburn Love of East Waterford, Pa., is the new president of the Eastern Milk Producers Association.

Love was elected Thursday to succeed Irvin Schell of Evans Mills, N.Y.

The association claims 10,000 members in New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Delaware.

"Be proud of your commission, be a leader in the America go forward movement," he told 81 graduating ROTC students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

A large black-bordered sign on the lawn in front of the RPI Field House read: "The planned demonstration against Gen. Hershey and the draft has been cancelled because of the death of Senator Robert Kennedy."

Earlier in the day, the 75-year-old Army officer, who has headed the Selective Service system for 34 years, told a Glens Falls Rotary Club luncheon that "Nobody is above the law, nobody is below it, and we're not going to ask their permission when we want them to obey it." This, he said, includes the draft.

Hershey said the death of Kennedy was "an irreparable loss" and an example of "everyone thinking he can take the law unto himself."

Hershey was picketed by about a half-dozen draft protesters carrying signs that read "Stop the Draft Now" and "A Volunteer Army Doesn't Cost That Much More."

From Glens Falls, Hershey traveled to Menands for a press conference at which he defended the present draft system, particularly its local boards "operated by men close to community problems." "I trust their judgment," he said. "Men being inducted aren't just numbers like they would be if the local system were abolished and the draft operated on a regional basis with from 300 to 500 boards handling the nation's Selective Service."

Barclay Knitwear Co., and Kingston Knitting Mills, manufacturing affiliate of Barclay, have received the "Symbol of Excellence" Award from Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the second consecutive year. A citation accompanying a plaque accepted by Richard Pauker read:

"In recognition of the outstanding performance of its management and employees in manufacturing superior quality products for Sears during the past year."

In making the presentation, Kessler said that "Sears buys merchandise from more than 20,000 manufacturers, including 13,000 regular sources. This award singles Barclay out as one of only 260 suppliers who are receiving the 'Symbol of Excellence' for superior performance during the past year."

"This recognition is given for efficiency, high quality standards, workmanship and shipping merchandise on schedule," Kessler said that the award symbolized the continuing relationship between Sears and Barclay for the past 40 years. The relationship began a few years after Barclay was founded by Michael Pauker, chairman of the board.

Shop-Rite — Awards Venet

The Shop-Rite Fellowship Club, an organization of Shop-Rite personnel and food manufacturer representatives, presented a special award to Zal Venet, president of Venet Advertising, at its recent dinner dance. The award, presented by Charles Stephan, last year's club president, was in appreciation for services the agency had performed for the club.

The Shop-Rite Fellowship Club was founded in 1961 as a social organization for members of the Shop-Rite Cooperative, and representatives of food manufacturers and brokers who worked directly in the stores preparing for grand openings and special events.

The group also supports a number of charitable projects, particularly the Egenolf Day Nursery, which they provide with educational toys and samples.

Community Room Is Feature For Bank's Bonanza Branch

A 24x48 foot community room will be one of the features of the Kingston Savings Bank's new Bonanza Branch office now under construction in the town of Ulster.

This and other details of the interior plans were revealed by Lloyd R. LeFever, bank president, and Herbert P. Mayer, architect.

The large room, which will be available for bank meetings and community use, can be divided with folding wood doors. A small but complete kitchen off the community room will serve the needs of bank employees for lunch and will also be available for use by those using the community room for meetings after banking hours.

In the main banking room the tellers' counter will be white with panels of blue. The back counter will be a soft grey-blue. The ceiling will be spaced redwood boards with a natural oiled finish. The floor will be covered with a grey-green velvet carpet.

The source of light will be hidden by covers on the beams, which are dropped below the ceilings. The walls will be painted off-white.

A feature of the vault room will be the vault with walls of rough textured concrete inside and outside. The vault door will be polished steel with the bolts and locking mechanism exposed to view. These will be plainly visible from the main banking room, adding to the sense of strength and security which the architect believes the customers expect in a bank.

Phil Kessler, Sears buyer for boys' sweaters and shirts, presented the award to Richard Pauker, president of Barclay and Robert F. Davis, president of Kingston Knitting Mills, at ceremonies in the New York headquarters offices of Barclay in the Empire State Building.

A citation accompanying a plaque accepted by Richard Pauker read: "In recognition of the outstanding performance of its management and employees in manufacturing superior quality products for Sears during the past year."

In making the presentation, Kessler said that "Sears buys merchandise from more than 20,000 manufacturers, including 13,000 regular sources. This award singles Barclay out as one of only 260 suppliers who are receiving the 'Symbol of Excellence' for superior performance during the past year."

"This recognition is given for efficiency, high quality standards, workmanship and shipping merchandise on schedule," Kessler said that the award symbolized the continuing relationship between Sears and Barclay for the past 40 years. The relationship began a few years after Barclay was founded by Michael Pauker, chairman of the board.

Hershey: Leaders, Not Scientists Vital

TROY, N.Y. (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the nation's Selective Service director, said Thursday night the "world now needs leaders more than scientists-character more than knowledge."

Milk Producers Elect

Love was elected Thursday to succeed Irvin Schell of Evans Mills, N.Y.

The association claims 10,000 members in New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Delaware.

"Be proud of your commission, be a leader in the America go forward movement," he told 81 graduating ROTC students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

A large black-bordered sign on the lawn in front of the RPI Field House read: "The planned demonstration against Gen. Hershey and the draft has been cancelled because of the death of Senator Robert Kennedy."

Earlier in the day, the 75-year old Army officer, who has headed the Selective Service system for 34 years, told a Glens Falls Rotary Club luncheon that "Nobody is above the law, nobody is below it, and we're not going to ask their permission when we want them to obey it." This, he said, includes the draft.

Hershey said the death of Kennedy was "an irreparable loss" and an example of "everyone thinking he can take the law unto himself."

Hershey was picketed by about a half-dozen draft protesters carrying signs that read "Stop the Draft Now" and "A Volunteer Army Doesn't Cost That Much More."

From Glens Falls, Hershey traveled to Menands for a press conference at which he defended the present draft system, particularly its local boards "operated by men close to community problems."

"I trust their judgment," he said. "Men being inducted aren't just numbers like they would be if the local system were abolished and the draft operated on a regional basis with from 300 to 500 boards handling the nation's Selective Service."

The Late Senator: Existence, Fate So Fickle

ROBERT F. KENNEDY
(UPI Telephoto)

Best AG: Historian On RFK

Historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., an admitted Kennedy enthusiast, once referred to the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy as "the best attorney general this country has had for a generation."

But he also drew criticism, an Associated Press dispatch reports.

The late N.Y. Senator was roundly criticized when the FBI banged on doors in the middle of the night to question persons about a steel price increase in 1962 which was later withdrawn under pressure from President Kennedy.

He was chastized in the South for the enforcement of civil rights but at the same time was criticized by some Negroes for supposedly proceeding too slowly in advancing racial equality.

Although the Justice Department was his primary responsibility, the late Sen. Kennedy had a hand in practically every phase of government.

As attorney general, Kennedy spurred the JD into further investigation of labor racketeering. James R. Hoffa, successor to David Beck, former Teamsters boss, who was convicted twice of jury tampering and misuse of union funds, charged Kennedy conducted a vendetta against him.

Female Students Injured in Thruway Crash

Four female students from the Albany State Teachers College, traveling to West Point for the weekend, were injured today when their vehicle smashed into the rear of a truck at mile post 96 on the New York State Thruway.

Injured were Elizabeth Bragg, 21, of Binghamton; Hazel Robbins, 22, of Adirondack; Carol Jenny, 21, of Clinton, and Theresa Pigot, 22, of Utica.

Reportedly, the driver of the car attempted to pull out from behind a truck into the passing lane when she spotted a car traveling alongside the truck.

In attempting to correct her line of travel, the driver, whose name could not be ascertained at press time, allegedly drove into the rear of the truck.

The four were taken to Kingston Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service.

According to an official at the hospital, none of the four was injured seriously.

By The Associated Press
The faraway look, a typical expression, came into Robert F. Kennedy's eyes and he said, "Existence is so fickle. Fate is so fickle. How does anyone know if he will be around in 1972?"

He may have been thinking about the terrible afternoon in Dallas, Tex., when his brother was cut down so suddenly. Or he may have been speaking in political terms.

The reporter, trying to fathom Robert Kennedy's intention for the future, never knew which.

More than three years had passed since the assassination of John F. Kennedy when Bobby commented about the uncertainties of life.

By that time, he had become the best-known and one of the most controversial men in the U.S. Senate. Unlike his brothers, John and Teddy, he had not waited long months before making his maiden speech on the Senate floor. Three weeks after he took his seat, Bobby was speaking out on economically depressed areas of his adopted state, New York.

Thereafter, in quick succession, he delivered major speeches on Latin America, poverty in America, the problems of the cities, and the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

Newspaper headlines resembled the montage technique of a motion picture which telescopes into a few seconds on the screen the events of months or even years.

"Voters swing toward Kennedy," "Kennedy inquiry leads to Justice Dept. Move," "Kennedy denounces cuts in aid," "Kennedy chides Johnson on cities," "Democrats look to RFK on choice for governor," "Bobby's man wins in surrogate race," "RFK leads LBJ in '68 sweeps."

He made almost as much news outside Washington as he did in his crowded and chaotic office on Capitol Hill or on the Senate floor. He travelled to Europe, Latin America, South Africa, and Southeast Asia. He rode a kayak through the rapids of Idaho's "River of No Return," climbed Mount Kennedy in Alaska, raced down the slopes of snow-covered mountains in Vermont on skis.

Profanity Denied

While he was in Europe in early 1967, he remarked that "the next few weeks will be critical" in the search for means to start negotiations to end the war in Vietnam. It was reported that he returned to Washington bringing "peace feelers" from Hanoi. He said that was untrue. He also denied that profanity had exploded when President Johnson discussed with him his activities during that trip.

Whatever the facts, by February 1967 Kennedy was saying that Johnson was "working in a vacuum" in Asia. On the Senate floor, he called for a suspension of the bombing of North Vietnam. Later in that year, Kennedy brought out another of his books, "To Seek A Newer World." In it, he wrote that in early 1967 the U.S. had cast away "the last best chance" for negotiating an end to the war.

He was becoming increasingly critical of Johnson's policies.

As Kennedy's stance hardened with respect to the administration, speculation rose that he might not wait until 1972 — when Johnson would be ineligible for another term in the White House — before running for President.

Kennedy repeatedly denied the rumors. He said he would support Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for renomination.

But he became more critical of Johnson's policies.

Discussing racial disorders, he said the U.S., "as a government" has not made "the kind of commitment...necessary to deal with the problems of the ghettos."

He moved away from administration policy on Vietnam by saying:

"Whatever the exact status of the National Liberation Front (the Viet Cong) — puppet or partly independent — any negotiated settlement must accept the fact that there are discontented elements in South Vietnam. Communist and non-Communist, who desire to change the existing political and economic system of that country... To admit them to a share of power and responsibility is at the heart of the hope for a negotiated settlement."

Humphrey reported that this would be tantamount to putting "a fox in a chicken coop or an arsonist in the fire department."

The New Hampshire primary March 12 showed that the party was badly split. Was there any further reason for Kennedy not to challenge Johnson?

Decided on Plunge

Kennedy decided to take the plunge. Ethel Kennedy and nine of their 10 children stood near him when he made his announcement.

He said he was running, "not to oppose any man, but to propose new policies."

"I run because I am convinced that this country is on a perilous course and because I have strong feelings about what must be done that I am obliged to do all I can," he said.

He won the primaries in Indiana and Nebraska. But Oregon voted for McCarthy and that was a serious setback for Kennedy.

From the beginning of his campaign, he had counted heavily on a decisive victory in California to provide the momentum that would sweep him to the nomination.

And so he went to Los Angeles for the make-or-break effort, determined to pull out all the stops to win.

A reporter once asked him why he ran so hard and worked such long hours. Kennedy borrowed the newsmen's notebook and wrote a line from the Greek playwright, Aeschylus: "When the height is won, then there is ease."

His foes called him ruthless and overly ambitious. His admirers called him charming and brilliant.

Friends and foe alike acknowledged his deep devotion to that followed President Kennedy's assassination in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. His tousled brown hair, his Boston accent and his speech making gesture of chopping the air with his right hand reminded many of his martyred brother. On the campaign trail in 1964 he evoked a response similar to that of his brother in the 1960 presidential campaign. Even in predominately Republican areas of upstate New York, he stirred waves of emotion, scenes of frenzy, an astonishingly human storm.

"I run because I am convinced that this country is on a perilous course and because I have strong feelings about what must be done that I am obliged to do all I can," he said.

He won the primaries in Indiana and Nebraska. But Oregon voted for McCarthy and that was a serious setback for Kennedy.

From the beginning of his campaign, he had counted heavily on a decisive victory in California to provide the momentum that would sweep him to the nomination.

And so he went to Los Angeles for the make-or-break effort, determined to pull out all the stops to win.

A reporter once asked him why he ran so hard and worked such long hours. Kennedy borrowed the newsman's notebook and wrote a line from the Greek playwright, Aeschylus: "When the height is won, then there is ease."

His foes called him ruthless and overly ambitious. His admirers called him charming and brilliant.

Friends and foe alike acknowledged his deep devotion to his brother, John, and none could forget his grief-lined face as he escorted his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, through the funeral rites that followed President Kennedy's assassination in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

His tousled brown hair, his Boston accent and his speech making gesture of chopping the air with his right hand reminded many of his martyred brother. On the campaign trail in 1964 he evoked a response similar to that of his brother in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Even in predominately Republican areas of upstate New York, he stirred waves of emotion, scenes of frenzy, an astonishingly human storm.

Dr. Franklin Fry Dies, Lutheran Church Leader

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, leader of the three-million-member Lutheran Church in America, died Thursday night of cancer in New Rochelle Hospital. He was 67 years old.

Resigned Week Ago
Dr. Fry had submitted his resignation as president of the Church one week ago because of his failing health.

He was born in Bethlehem, Pa., the son and grandson of Lutheran ministers. Among his survivors are a son and son-in-law who are Lutheran ministers.

Known to friends as "Mr. Lutheran," Dr. Fry entered the hospital two weeks ago for tests. On May 30, he called several associates to his bedside, told them he was "gravely ill" and then tendered his resignation from the post he had held since 1962.

Dr. Fry had been president of a national church body since 1944 when he was elected to head the United Lutheran Church of America which later merged with three other churches to become the Lutheran Church of America.

He also had a great interest in the World Council of Churches and was chairman of its central committee. He was instrumental in bringing the Eastern Orthodox Church into the council.

Dr. Fry gained wide attention in January when he issued a statement on America's racial problems. "Unpleasant as it is for me to say and you to hear," he said, "the United States confronts a time of spiraling and spreading violence to make one's blood run cold unless a massive improvement of the lot of Negro ghettos comes quickly."

Hamilton Graduate
Dr. Fry was graduated from Hamilton College in Clinton, N.Y., in 1921 and the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Philadelphia in 1925. He was pastor of the Redeemer church in Yonkers, N.Y., from 1925 to 1929, and of the Trinity Lutheran church in Akron, Ohio, from 1929 to 1944. In 1945 he was one of the organizers of Lutheran World Relief Inc. and was its president.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Dr. Fry is survived by his widow, the former Hilda Drewes; a daughter, Mrs. Richard I. Preis of Ann Arbor, Mich., wife of a minister; and two sons, the Rev. Franklin Drewes Fry of York, Pa., and Robert C. Fry of Pleasantville, N.Y.

County Pays Respects, Activities Suspended

Ulster County will pay its respects to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with the closing of county and city office buildings, religious services and postponement of social activities.

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, in compliance with the days of mourning ordered by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and President Johnson, has ordered flags to be flown at half-staff and all county office buildings closed. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has issued similar orders in Kingston.

There will be a solemn high Mass offered for Sen. Kennedy tonight at 7:30 in St. Joseph's Church, corner of Wall and Main Streets, and another Mass offered for the repose of his soul at St. Katherine Laboure Church in Lake Katrine tomorrow at 9 a. m.

All Grand Union supermarkets in the area will be closed between 5 and 6 p. m. tomorrow in respect to Kennedy. The Metropolitan Life Insurance offices will be closed in addition to Town of Esopus offices.

Schools Open
Kingston Consolidated Schools were open today as per a decision at the monthly board of education meeting last night. Today, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, explained the decision to keep the schools open stating that the day of mourning declared by Gov. Rockefeller is Saturday and a national day of mourning has been set for Sunday. Hoover said the administration felt that a day off at this phase of the school year would serve no purpose. He noted that the day off granted when Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated was the actual day of mourning and funeral.

The Sunday school picnic of the Flatbush Reformed Church, Town of Saugerties, has been canceled for this Sunday due to the national day of mourning for Sen. Kennedy. The event will be held the following Sunday at 2 p. m. at Trinka's Park.

Dutchess Community College, at the request of Gov. Rockefeller and State University Chancellor Gould, is honoring the memory of the late Sen. Kennedy today by suspending most of its essential services.

The only offices open are those handling procedures for the pre-registration of about 800 students who will return to DCC next fall.

Graduation exercises at the college will take place as scheduled Sunday afternoon.

Modified Program
College president James F. Hall said there will be a modified program as a tribute not only to the students but to the late Sen. Kennedy and his family. He said the exercises will mark their grief at this time as well as the tragedy that has befallen the nation.

President Hall requested recommendations yesterday morning at a joint meeting of faculty, students, and college administrators.

Fifteen students representing the student government and the graduating class strongly recommended that the event be held on Sunday but that a modified service take place.

Ecumenical services in memory of Sen. Kennedy will be held at Cantine Memorial Field, Saugerties, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. jointly by the Saugerties Council of Churches, Catholic churches in the area and the Collamer from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary in Esopus.

The Collamer, who are making their farewell appearance before graduation, will offer a singing tribute to Sen. Kennedy. A brief service will be offered prior to the program by a number of clergymen.

Sunday night at 7, Congregation Agudas Achim, located at 24 West Union Street, will hold a special service honoring the memory of the late Sen. Kennedy. Those in the program will include Aaron E. Klein, Manuel Lipton, honorary president of the congregation; David Popick, president of the congregation; Rabbi H. Z. Rapaport and Cantor, Herman Slomovits.

For increased income I recommend first Hackensack Water, yielding 5 per cent. Profitable operations in the burgeoning area of northern New Jersey have brought periodic dividend increases partially exempt from federal taxation. My second suggestion is Lorillard, the country's fifth-largest cigarette maker and a successful merchandiser of non-tobacco products. Its dividend was recently increased and when Lorillard withdrew from its pursuit of Schenley the price drop in its shares brought the current yield to 5 1/2 per cent. My third selection, yielding a more modest 4 per cent, is Chemical Bank N.Y. Trust, the country's sixth-largest bank with a record of consistently increasing assets during the past decade.

Equal dollar amounts placed in these three conservative issues will supplement income and provide some protection against inflation.

Q — Between 1942 and 1945 I invested $4,000 in E. bonds. Are they still drawing interest and, if so, how much will they be worth at the end of 30 years?—R.K.

A — Yes, they're drawing interest at the annual rate of 4.15 per cent. Lacking your exact purchase dates, I can state only an approximate value for your investment. Each $18.75 bond bought between the dates you mention will be worth a minimum of $50.22 and a maximum of $51.95 at 30-year maturity. Thus, your $4,000 investment will be redeemable for $10,500 to $11,000 at the end of 30 years.

Roger Spear's 48-page Investment Guide (now in its 8th printing) is available to all readers of this column. Send $1 with your name and address to Roger E. Spear, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 1618, Grand Central Station, New York N.Y. 10017.

Two Indicted
Two Kingston young women, Donna Sickler, 19 of Hunter Street, and Maureen Grant, 21 of North Wilbur Avenue were indicted in county court Thursday by the April grand jury for making apparently sworn false statements in the first degree. The indictments were read by District Attorney Joseph Torraca before County Judge Raymond J. Minto. According to police information the two were accused of giving what the fire department would consider a false alarm on March 5 when city police were called in on an assault charge which proved non-existent. A 16-year-old youth, not named, was also reportedly involved in the case, according to police records.

DeGaulle Schedules Televised Interview

PARIS (AP) — With France's strike wave rapidly subsiding, Frenchmen turned their attention to politics and a televised interview with President Charles de Gaulle tonight.

De Gaulle is to be interviewed by Michel Droit, editor of the pro-government Figaro Littéraire. The president has been working on his script since Tuesday and it was expected to be a major salvo in his campaign to win a majority in the National Assembly in the elections he has called for June 23 and June 30.

Political observers thought De Gaulle might acknowledge the widespread social discontent that spawned the general strike by promising reforms. But they anticipated that he would concentrate on his campaign theme of Gaullist "stability" vs. "communist" "chaos."

De Gaulle's interview will be a springboard for the formal opening of the election campaign Monday. Leaders of the opposition parties will be given time on the government radio-television network later in the campaign, following a precedent established in the general election last year.

The back-to-work movement swelled across the nation Thursday despite harassment from small bands of diehard strikers. But the automobile, aircraft and metallurgical industries were still strikebound.

The capital's two main airfields, Orly and Le Bourget, were still closed, awaiting a settlement vote by electronic technicians. But foreign airlines which have been using a military airfield expected to shift back on Saturday.

Service on the railroads, buses and the Paris subway improved steadily and postal workers were making progress against the big backlog of mail.

300Gs in Dimes Recovered, Brookhaven Man Arrested
Federal Bureau of Investigation agents from New York City in conjunction with Suffolk County detectives yesterday arrested a Brookhaven man and charged him with the hijacking of an REA express truck with more than $500,000 worth of dimes, May 29.

More than $300,000 worth of dimes was recovered under a platform of a sporting goods store owned by Raymond Curiale, 40, of 40 Yaphank Avenue, Brookhaven. Curiale is the president of the West Avenue Sports Wear Company where the dimes were recovered.

Curiale will be arraigned today before a U.S. Commissioner and charged with theft of interstate shipments. If convicted he faces a ten year prison term or a $5,000 fine or both. Police are continuing the search for his accomplice and almost $200,000 of missing dimes.

CD Police Meets Monday
The Kingston-Ulster County CD Auxiliary Police will meet Monday night, June 10, at the Moose Hall, 82 Prince Street. All members are urged to attend the meeting starting at 7:30 o'clock.

County Pays Respects, Activities Suspended

Ulster County will pay its respects to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with the closing of county and city office buildings, religious services and postponement of social activities.

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, in compliance with the days of mourning ordered by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and President Johnson, has ordered flags to be flown at half-staff and all county office buildings closed. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has issued similar orders in Kingston.

There will be a solemn high Mass offered for Sen. Kennedy tonight at 7:30 in St. Joseph's Church, corner of Wall and Main Streets, and another Mass offered for the repose of his soul at St. Katherine Labourer Church in Lake Katrine tomorrow at 9 a. m.

All Grand Union supermarkets in the area will be closed between 5 and 6 p. m. tomorrow in respect to Kennedy. The Metropolitan Life Insurance offices will be closed in addition to Town of Esopus offices.

Schools Open
Kingston Consolidated Schools were open today as per a decision at the monthly board of education meeting last night. Today, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, explained the decision to keep the schools open stating that the day of mourning declared by Gov. Rockefeller is Saturday and a national day of mourning has been set for Sunday. Hoover said the administration felt that a day off at this phase of the school year would serve no purpose. He noted that the day off granted when Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated was the actual day of mourning and funeral.

The Sunday school picnic of the Flatbush Reformed Church, Town of Saugerties, has been canceled for this Sunday due to the national day of mourning for Sen. Kennedy. The event will be held the following Sunday at 2 p. m. at Trinka's Park.

Dutchess Community College, at the request of Gov. Rockefeller and State University Chancellor Gould, is honoring the memory of the late Sen. Kennedy today by suspending most of its essential services.

The only offices open are those handling procedures for the pre-registration of about 800 students who will return to DCC next fall.

Graduation exercises at the college will take place as scheduled Sunday afternoon.

Modified Program
College president James F. Hall said there will be a modified program as a tribute not only to the students but to the late Sen. Kennedy and his family. He said the exercises will mark their grief at this time as well as the tragedy that has befallen the nation. President Hall requested recommendations yesterday morning at a joint meeting of faculty, students, and college administrators.

Fifteen students representing the student government and the graduating class strongly recommended that the event be held on Sunday but that a modified service take place.

Eccumenical services in memory of Sen. Kennedy will be held at Cantine Memorial Field, Saugerties, Sunday at 7:30 p. m. jointly by the Saugerties Council of Churches, Catholic churches in the area and the Collarman from Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary in Esopus.

The Collarman, who are making their farwell appearance before graduation, will offer a singing tribute to Sen. Kennedy. A brief service will be offered prior to the program by a number of clergymen.

Sunday night at 7, Congregation Agudas Achim, located at 24 West Union Street, will hold a special service honoring the memory of the late Sen. Kennedy. Those in the program will include Aaron E. Klein, Manuel Lipton, honorary president of the Congregation; David Popick, president of the Congregation; Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and Cantor, Herman Slomovits.

Two Indicted

Two Kingston young women, Donna Sicker, 19 of Hunter Street, and Maureen Grant, 21 of North Wilbur Avenue were indicted in county court Thursday by the April grand jury for making apparently sworn false statements in the first degree. The indictments were read by District Attorney Joseph Torraca before County Judge Raymond J. Mino. According to police information the two were accused of giving what the fire department would consider a false alarm on March 5 when city police were called in on an assault charge which proved non-existent. A 16-year-old youth, not named, was also reportedly involved in the case, according to police records.

De Gaulle is to be interviewed by Michel Droit, editor of the pro-government Figaro Littéraire. The president has been working on his script since Tuesday and it was expected to center on his campaign theme of Gaullist "stability" vs. "to talitarian communism" and would play on middle-class fears of a popular front government dominated by the Communists.

De Gaulle's interview will be a springboard for the formal opening of the election campaign Monday. Leaders of the opposition parties will be given time on the government radio-television network later in the campaign, following a precedent established in the general election last year.

Fireplace Unit Will Lower Cost

Building or remodeling on a tight budget? It's still possible to have a handsome fireplace wall.

The fireplace itself can be one of the modern metal units. With the wide variety available today, one can be found to suit nearly anyone's taste and pocketbook.

Some units are built to be "hung" on a wall. Others are free-standing and can be placed on an ankle-high hearth of quarry tile or brick.

A metal fireplace looks both more inviting and more permanent when the wall behind is wood-paneled. Decorator favorites are clear, straight-grained boards in woods like western hemlock and western red cedar.

A knotty grade of ponderosa or sugar pine, if stained dark, also makes a dramatic fireplace wall.

Build a Beam

For a beamed ceiling in family or living room, false beams can be made easily by building long boxes of 1x4 or 1x6-inch Douglas fir boards. Miter joining edges for the best appearance and, for an aged look, distress the beams by hitting them with chains or keys. Then rub raw artist's umber into the beams' scars before finishing with stain.

Library Wall Gives Character to Room

A good library wall is hard to beat as a means of adding both storage and instant character to a room. In a living room, it erases parlor stuffiness, and in a formal dining room, the effect can be as cozy as the kitchen.

Of course no library wall is limited to book storage. Anything from stacks of magazines to a bowl of cut flowers or the heirloom tea service fits in with ease and elegance.

Building in a library wall offers a rare opportunity to the creative soul, and just about anything goes. Some families have worked magic with rough-surfaced lumber; others have found that a few two-inch-thick boards make quite an impact as shelving.

Color-toning vertical grain fir, pine or hemlock produces another intriguing effect, adding a hint of color to the texture of wood.

To color-tone lumber, use enamel thinned in at least a three-to-one proportion. Brush on the paint, then wipe it off with a lint-free cloth so that only a small amount of color adheres to the wood. Practicing on scraps will soon perfect your technique.

Then sand the wood lightly with extra fine sandpaper or steel wool to remove raised grain. Complete the job with two coats of matte or satin finish varnish.

Tired of the "bare wall" look? If so, spark new wall interest with Marlite tile panels. These four-foot wide panels of plastic-finished hardboard have the appearance of tile, yet are easier to install and maintain.

The dramatic Riviera tile pattern captures the mood of the Mediterranean. It comes in a soft blue or gold on a white background.

New to this line is an American tile pattern that features embossed squares approximately 1" on center. These plastic-finished hardboard panels are approved for installation in areas subject to heavy moisture.

Marlite tile panels can be applied directly over existing walls with an adhesive. Color matched moldings are available for use with them.

Fireplace Unit Will Lower Cost

Building or remodeling on a tight budget? It's still possible to have a handsome fireplace wall.

The fireplace itself can be one of the modern metal units. With the wide variety available today, one can be found to suit nearly anyone's taste and pocketbook.

Some units are built to be "hung" on a wall. Others are free-standing and can be placed on an ankle-high hearth of quarry tile or brick.

A metal fireplace looks both more inviting and more permanent when the wall behind it is woodpaneled. Decorator favorites are clear, straight-grained boards in woods like western hemlock and western red cedar.

A knotty grade of ponderosa or sugar pine, if stained dark, also makes a dramatic fireplace wall.

Downtown Man Indicted in Alleged Attack

Ernest C. Bodie, 21, of Hunter Street, charged in an alleged attack of a 53-year-old Town of Esopus woman, April 5, was indicted Thursday afternoon in county court by the April grand jury. He is charged in the indictment with attempt to commit a crime and sexual abuse in the first degree and assault, first degree.

District Attorney Joseph Torraca read the indictment before County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Bodies were arrested by state police in the Town of Esopus. State police said the alleged attack occurred in the vicinity of Kaufmann's Pond at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Troopers said Bodie was hiding in the woods near where the Esopus woman was cutting dandelions with her three-year-old grandson. When troopers arrived at the scene Bodie was in the custody of two Saugerties men who were in the area at the time of the incident.

List Private Funeral for Churchill

LONDON (UPI)—His family today planned a private funeral service for the late Sir Winston Churchill's son, Randolph.

Randolph died Thursday at 57, having completed only two volumes of a planned six-volume biography of his father. His publishers, William Heinemann Ltd., announced that the best-selling and much praised biography probably will be completed by "a distinguished historian."

He was a commando and a paratrooper with his father's old unit, the Fourth Queen's Hussars. Like father, he earned much of his living by his journalism and writing books. Unlike his father, he had little luck in politics, serving only one term in the House of Commons. Randolph was survived by his son and a daughter. Married twice, he was twice divorced.

"Mark twain" was the river pilots call to indicate that water was two fathoms deep.

Rockland Man Is Indicted By Grand Jury

John Ottigen, 26, of Spring Valley, charged with illegal possession of a dangerous weapon in a shooting incident on the Thruway early in April, was indicted in county court Thursday afternoon by the April grand jury. County Judge Raymond J. Mino presided. District Attorney Joseph Torraca read the indictment.

Ottigen was charged in the indictment with reckless endangerment in the first degree; reckless endangerment, second and possessing a weapon as a felony.

The arrest resulted in a shooting incident on the Thruway near Saugerties. Thruway troopers said a car in which six Bronx men were riding was shot at by one of three men in another vehicle. Shots from a .22 caliber pistol were fired into the Bronx car but apparently missed the occupants, troopers said.

Other open indictments were handed down for James J. Perry, charged with burglary, third degree, two counts; criminal trespass, second, two counts; grand larceny, third, two counts; unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, two counts and petit larceny.

Donald Sickler was charged with attempt to commit a crime, two counts.

Change Plans For Bell Rally

Announced plans for a rally for H. Clark Bell, running for the Republican nomination for assemblyman, Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eagan of 25 Juniper Lane, Woodstock, have been changed due to the death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Friends and supporters of the former constitutional convention delegate had been invited to the rally from all over the county.

Bell said today that in place of the rally there will be a program of religious, moral and social examination at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Eagan, Sunday at 4 p.m. There will be no political speeches.

Appropriate remarks will be given by the Rev. Arthur Oudemool of the Old Dutch Church, Rabbi Harry A. Schechtman of Congregation Ahavath Israel and the Rev. James Keating of St. Joseph's Church.

Bell said he feels that the level of civil disobedience, disrespect for law and order and the general breakdown of our basically lawful society require immediate and meaningful examination.

"In the past, Bell said, "when our nation has been in need of guidance we have looked to our religious leaders and to God. We must make all our citizens conscious of the perils presented by uncontrolled acts of civil disobedience, whether they be rioting, looting or the dreadful specter of political assassination."

The program of religious, moral and social examination will begin at 4 p. m. All are invited.

Change Plans For Bell Rally

Announced plans for a rally for H. Clark Bell, running for the Republican nomination for assemblyman, Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eagan of 25 Juniper Lane, Woodstock, have been changed due to the death of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Friends and supporters of the former constitutional convention delegate had been invited to the rally from all over the county.

Bell said today that in place of the rally there will be a program of religious, moral and social examination at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Eagan, Sunday at 4 p.m. There will be no political speeches.

Appropriate remarks will be given by the Rev. Arthur Oudemool of the Old Dutch Church, Rabbi Harry A. Schechtman of Congregation Ahavath Israel and the Rev. James Keating of St. Joseph's Church.

Bell said he feels that the level of civil disobedience, disrespect for law and order and the general breakdown of our basically lawful society require immediate and meaningful examination.

"In the past, Bell said, 'when our nation has been in need of guidance we have looked to our religious leaders and to God. We must make all our citizens conscious of the perils presented by uncontrolled acts of civil disobedience, whether they be rioting, looting or the dreadful specter of political assassination.'

The program of religious, moral and social examination will begin at 4 p.m. All are invited.

RFK--Remembered Here

In 1964, Robert F. Kennedy walked briskly into a small private dining room at the Fallsview in Ellenville. I was there to greet him for, at the time, I was serving as co-chairman of his Ulster County campaign. In the picture above, I stand to his left, and Freeman Sports Editor, Charles J. Tiano, is at his right.

Kennedy was in Ulster County to visit with his campaign supporters, to get close to the people in this area and to give them the benefit of his thoughts. This was to be the year his political star was to rise. He was elected U.S. Senator from New York State and his record 500,000 votes topped his brother's 384,000 votes in the 1960 presidential election.

The issue that day in September, 1964, was the same as in 1968—peace. "The great issue of our time is the maintenance of peace . . ." Kennedy told the Freeman staffers, and he never wavered from that stand.

Ulster County remembers Robert F. Kennedy and his death leaves a weariness, a profound sense of despair in the hearts of those who had extended their helping hands in order that he might surmount that first political mountain.

How often we are told that society cannot exist unless the authority that gives orders is able to enforce them. This is as basic as breathing. But there seems to be such a high incidence of insanity among us these days. A type of insanity that feeds upon fear, suspiciousness and ignorance.

If the man behind the counter, the bus driver, the milkman, the average "Mr. John Doe," if these people do not react against such deeds instantly and vigorously, if they do not demand reforms, then our American people will continue to be butchered and the destitute living between the Atlantic and Pacific, between Mexico and Canada, will be forever frozen in their capsules of despair.

We cannot permit 200 million people to be sensitive to some evils and insensitive to others. This is akin to having no conscience at all except for a rule of expediency. As a nation, we had better look to our own problems in our glass houses before we try to impose our will upon other nations.

As one commentator so aptly stated, " . . . violence breeds violence and it can be stopped only by a transition into a Police State. But if that should happen, the people won't shoot at the police or politicians, the police will shoot at the people."

Our mental processes have not taken us too far ahead of the animal kingdom when we cannot accept the fact that it is morally wrong to seek a good end through evil means.

A good public servant becomes so at a high cost of personal sacrifice. The Kennedy family has paid the highest price of all.

Tomorrow the nation will bury Robert F. Kennedy. On Sunday, we will observe a national day of mourning.

On Monday—yes, what about Monday?

Ready-to-wear Shows Create Much Interest

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—Paris ready-to-wear shows don't produce the sort of fashion earthquakes that haute couture collections can create, but they come up with some interesting ideas.

Here are some of the most trend-setting from showings of fashions to be sold off-the-peg next fall and winter:

—Forest green as an important basis color, worn the way brown was last winter and navy was this spring, for stockings, shoes, suits, hats, offsetting the other important colors, red, white and black.

—Asymmetrical hemlines as an alternative to the rather tired maxi-midi controversy.

The house of Jean Cacarel, best known for its neat tailored blouses in unusual fabrics, came up with some daytime skirts with a pleated dip on one side—rather like Pierre Cardin showed on one dress during his spring haute couture collection.

—Shoes with a thick sole protruding around the edge like a running board, something that disappeared from high fashion long before the latter disappeared from cars.

—Adaptations of the classic long-sleeved blouse or the old wraparound, the simpler and slinkier the better, left open to mid-bosom or below. Often shown on models who were obviously not wearing bras and once on a model with such a gaunt chest that you could literally count her bones.

—Tiny chignons, often bedecked with flowers, arranged by pulling the hair tight to the skull and then winding all the available hair into a tiny knot, most striking worn on one side of the head.

—Fun fur coats mixed with leather by young designer Emmanuel Khanh: Striking when the leather was set in a wide band at the waist to give a cinched look and on the cuffs to give a furry leg o' mutton effect on the sleeve, practical when the leather forms a strip up the inner arm and down the coat side exactly where the less expensive fur furs are likely to show wear.

—Lots of knee length pants, usually black and full to wear with boots or warm cable knit stockings, shown at Madd with the sort of long buttoned sweaters grandma used to wear in suitably granny colors, maroon and gray.

—Black accented by white and one bright color, Castille used turquoise, Cardin, red and peacock.

Tiano, is at his right.

Kennedy was in Ulster County to visit with his campaign supporters, to get close to the people in this area and to give them the benefit of his thoughts. This was to be the year his political star was to rise. He was elected U.S. Senator from New York State and his record 500,000 votes topped his brother's 384,000 votes in the 1960 presidential election.

The issue that day in September, 1964, was the same as in 1968—peace. "The great issue of our time is the maintenance of peace . . ." Kennedy told the Freeman staffers, and he never wavered from that stand.

Ulster County remembers Robert F. Kennedy and his death leaves a weariness, a profound sense of despair in the hearts of those who had extended their helping hands in order that he might surmount that first political mountain.

How often we are told that society cannot exist unless the authority that gives orders is able to enforce them. This is as basic as breathing. But there seems to be such a high incidence of insanity among us these days. A type of insanity that feeds upon fear, suspiciousness and ignorance.

If the man behind the counter, the bus driver, the milkman, the average "Mr. John Doe," if these people do not react against such deeds instantly and vigorously, if they do not demand reforms, then our American people will continue to be butchered and the destitute living between the Atlantic and Pacific, between Mexico and Canada, will be forever frozen in their capsules of despair.

We cannot permit 200 million people to be sensitive to some evils and insensitive to others. This is akin to having no conscience at all except for a rule of expediency. As a nation, we had better look to our own problems in our glass houses before we try to impose our will upon other nations.

As one commentator so aptly stated, "... violence breeds violence and it can be stopped only by a transition into a Police State. But if that should happen, the people won't shoot at the police or politicians, the police will shoot at the people."

Our mental processes have not taken us too far ahead of the animal kingdom when we cannot accept the fact that it is morally wrong to seek a good end through evil means.

A good public servant becomes so at a high cost of personal sacrifice. The Kennedy family has paid the highest price of all.

Tomorrow the nation will bury Robert F. Kennedy. On Sunday, we will observe a national day of mourning.

On Monday—yes, what about Monday?

Ready-to-wear Shows Create Much Interest

By JOAN DEPPA

PARIS (UPI)—Paris ready-to-wear shows don't produce the sort of fashion earthquakes that haute couture collections can create, but they come up with some interesting ideas.

Here are some of the most trend-setting from showings of fashions to be sold off-the-peg next fall and winter: —Forest green as an important basis color, worn the way brown was last winter and navy was this spring, for stockings, shoes, suits, hats, offsetting the other important colors, red, white and black.

—Asymmetrical hemlines as an alternative to the rather tired maxi-midi controversy. The house of Jean Casarel, best known for its neat tailored blouses in unusual fabrics, came up with some daytime skirts with a pleated dip on one side—rather like Pierre Cardin showed on one dress during his spring haute couture collection.

—Shoes with a thick sole protruding around the edge like a running board, something that disappeared from high fashion long before the latter disappeared from cars. —Adaptions of the classic long-sleeved blouse or the old wraparound, the simpler and slinkier the better, left open to mid-bosom or below. Often shown on models who were obviously not wearing bras and once on a model with such a gaunt chest that you could literally count her bones. —Tiny chignons, often beaded with flowers, arranged by pulling the hair tight to the skull and then winding all the available hair into a tiny knot, most striking worn on one side of the head.

—Fun fur coats mixed with leather by young designer Emmanuel Khanh: Striking when the leather was set in a wide band at the waist to give a cinched look and on the cuffs to give a furry leg o' mutton effect on the sleeve, practical when the leather forms a strip up the inner arm and down the coat side exactly where the less expensive fun furs are likely to show wear.

—Lots of knee length pants, usually black and full to wear with boots or warm cable knit stockings, shown at Madd with the sort of long, buttoned sweaters grandma used to wear in suitably granny colors, maroon and gray.

—Black accented by white and one bright color. Castillo used turquoise. Cardin, red and peacock.

The Doctor Says

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

With the warmer weather, an ever greater number of cars are venturing onto our highways. The larger their number in any given area, the slower their pace and the greater the concentration of carbon monoxide in the surrounding atmosphere. Authorities believe that, even though the concentration may not be enough to cause a headache it may be sufficient to cause drowsiness and increase the driver's chance of having an accident.

This is especially true for drivers who must spend an hour or more traveling to and from work during the so-called rush hours. The highest levels of the poisonous carbon monoxide are invariably found in the region of intersections controlled by either stop signals or lights.

When the concentration reaches 80 parts per million (and it often goes to 85 parts or more in these locations), 10 per cent of the commuter's hemoglobin is inactivated by carbon monoxide replacing oxygen in his red blood cells. If he is smoking while driving, as much as 15 per cent may be inactivated.

The ill effects are determined by the level of carbon monoxide in the air and the duration of the exposure. There is no easy solution to this problem but a staggering of rush-hour traffic should help.

Q—I am a boy, 17, and am only 67 inches tall. What hormone pills can I take to make me taller?

A—Although most girls attain their full stature by age 17, boys don't stop growing until they are about 20, so don't give up hope. The greatest success in getting short people to grow has been in the case of dwarfs with a deficiency of pituitary hormone, but you certainly don't belong in that category. Being short is really no handicap. History is full of short men who were long on achievement.

Q—What is the cause and treatment of Guillain-Barre's disease?

A—The cause of this disease is unknown. It affects children and adults of both sexes and all ages and is characterized by muscular weakness that usually starts in the legs. Weakness and paralysis reach their peak in about three weeks. If the respiratory center in the brain is not paralyzed, full or partial recovery occurs in about 12 weeks. Great improvement and a lowering of the death rate has resulted from the use of corticosteroid drugs.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I keep a plastic wastebasket in my bathroom just for bathtub toys. They drain in the basket, keeping our floor dry and the room also neat.

Mary Hilles

Dear Heloise:

Do you tie your packages at the cross strings to strengthen them? Well, so do I, but the other day I had just enough string to tie the package yet not enough to secure those cross strings.

So I rummaged around in my "junk" drawer 'til I spied several bread wrapper ties. I merely twisted a couple around those cross strings.

Fran Davis

Dear Heloise:

I made my clothespin bag out of nylon net.

I used four thicknesses of net and the metal frame from my bag. Then I sewed it by hand with embroidery thread (six strands).

And do my clothespins dry quick and stay white!

Tiny Tips

To prevent kitchen plumbing from clogging, once a week pour three to four tablespoons of washing soda down the drain and run the hot water until the granules dissolve. A dash of washing soda added to dishwashing water daily also acts as a tonic for sluggish plumbing and leaves dishes sparkling.

Many of the new water-repellent finishes on cotton raincoats will take up to five dry cleanings without having to be reprocessed.

Annual Supper

A cafeteria supper, sponsored by Women's Guild of Flatbush Reformed Church, will be served Saturday, June 29. Servings start at 5:30 p. m. and continue until all are served. A wide selection of home-cooked food will be available.

Israel-Arab Relations Improved

By PHIL NEWSON

One year after 15 foreign-flag ships still lie trapped in the Suez Canal beneath the opposing Israeli and Egyptian guns on either side, Israeli forces maintain their hold on Syria's Golan Heights, on the Jordan River's west bank, on Old Jerusalem, the Gaza Strip and two Saudi Arabian-owned islands guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aquaba.

The rattle of gunfire across the Jordan River and Arabian vows of a war of extermination against Israel make it all seem as if nothing had changed.

Yet there have been changes since the end of that six-day war, some subtle, some, such as the reinforced Soviet military presence at either end of the blocked canal and in the Persian Gulf, not so subtle.

Among the subtleties is the sobering effect the last year has had on Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic.

While Nasser's chief spokesman, Hassanin Heikal, editor of the newspaper Al Ahran continues to trumpet that a renewal of the war is inevitable, informed sources in Cairo say that Nasser himself is committed to a political settlement.

They cite as proof the fact that since last fall only a few shooting incidents have been reported in the Canal Zone.

The student-worker riots of last February gave full exposure to Nasser's multitudinous problems at home.

A further subtlety is the lack of any real resistance movement in the Israel-occupied areas of Arab territories.

Arab commando forces designed to keep the war alive have little more than nuisance value.

Israel has indicated she intends to keep the Gaza strip and the whole of Jerusalem but would surrender other occupied territories in return for peace. Despite a seeming drift toward maintenance of the status quo, real peace still seems far away and, as the Arabs rebuild their shattered forces with Soviet aid, the dangers of an eventual renewal of the conflict remain.

A New Type of Woman:

The Widow of Violence

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — In five years of American history, the assassin's bullet has thrust upon the national scene a new type of woman—the Widow of Violence.

The shooting of Sen Robert F. Kennedy, who died Thursday in a Los Angeles hospital with his wife Ethel at his side, drew attention anew to the procession of tragedy.

First, shortly after midnight on June 11, 1963, a bullet killed civil rights leader Medgar Evers in the doorway of his Jackson, Miss., home.

Lying prone on the floor inside the house as they had been taught to do at the sound of gunfire were Evers' wife Myrlie and their three children.

Five months later, on Nov. 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was shot down during a Dallas, Tex., motorcade with his wife Jacqueline at his side.

And two days later Lee Harvey Oswald who the Warren Commission said killed the President was killed by Jack Ruby, leaving Oswald's Soviet-born wife with their two young sons in an alien country.

On April 4 of this year Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain while standing on the balcony of a Memphis, Tenn., motel, leaving behind his wife Coretta and their four youngsters.

Of these Widows of Violence, only the wife of Oswald has been able to regain a measure of private life.

The two widows of civil rights leaders chose to remain in the spotlight to carry on their husbands' crusades. At the same time Mrs. John F. Kennedy remains in the national limelight.

"When Medgar died, a part of me died. And I have just existed," said his widow a year after the tragedy. Eventually Mrs. Evers, haunted by memories in Mississippi, moved to Claremont, Calif. where she enrolled at Pomona College. Now 35, she will receive a bachelor's degree on June 8. To help keep her husband's cause alive, Mrs. Evers has written a book, "For Us, the Living." She speaks regularly at NAACP meetings around the country.

The courage and gallantry that sustained Mrs. Kennedy during the ordeal of her husband's death, her majesty and sense of history in carrying out the President's state funeral, captured the admiration of the world. But the world did not let her retreat into anonymity after leaving the White House. To es-

Marcus Expects Indictment On the Con-Ed Business

NEW YORK (AP) — James

L. Marcus, former New York City water commissioner, has testified in federal court that he expects to be indicted by a Manhattan grand jury in connection with an alleged conspiracy involving $20 million worth of Consolidated Edison Co. contracts.

Marcus also said Thursday that if he is indicted he will plead guilty in the Consolidated Edison case and also will plead guilty to a charge of grand larceny and two other charges.

Testimony showed that the grand larceny charge developed from Marcus' association with William Rorick, an actor. Marcus said $15,000 was involved.

Marcus was asked if he knew the consequences of pleading guilty to the possible additional charges, and he replied: "Yes, up to seven years."

Marcus already has pleaded guilty to a federal charge of bribery conspiracy and could be sentenced to up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

He is a prosecution witness at the trial of four men and a company on the same charge in U.S. District Court. The charges involve alleged kickbacks totaling $40,000 to Marcus and other persons in connection with Marcus' award of an $840,000 emergency contract, without bidding, to a contracting company to clean the Jerome Park Reservoir in the Bronx. Marcus has admitted a $16,000 kickback to him.

The trial is being held in federal court because the government charges that interstate telephone calls were made to further the alleged conspiracy, in violation of U. S. antiracketeering laws.

Marcus, 37, a native of Schenectady and once a close adviser to Mayor John V. Lindsay, said under cross-examination by the defense Thursday that he and Herbert Itkin, his lawyer and partner in a number of ventures, hoped to get millions of dollars from a deal that was under negotiation with the Consolidated Edison Co. last fall.

Abby Makes Last Thrust, Lashes Eastern Georgia

By United Press International

Abby, reduced from a hurricane to a "tropical storm," inched across the eastern corner of Georgia today taking with her heavy rainfall.

She was expected to die today as she moved overland from Jessup, Ga., northward at 10 miles an hour.

In her wake were storm warnings raised from Fernandina, Fla., to Charleston, S.C., but the U.S. Weather Bureau expected them to be short lived.

Savannah, Ga., recorded nearly three inches of rain in a 12-hour period ending early today. In a 24-hour period, nearly six inches fell in Jacksonville, Fla.

The weather bureau warned of the possibility of local weather was warm from the most of the Great Lakes and southern New England.

At 3 a.m., EDT Chicago had the rare distinction of recording the warmest temperature in the nation—81. The coldest spot at the same time was 40 at Sexton Summit, Ore.

flooding in east and north Georgia and most of South Carolina because of the heavy rainfall.

Rain activity spread from central New England across the northern Great Lakes to the Plains, with nearly 1½ inches of rain at Rapid City, S.D., in a six-hour period. Rain also fell over much of Montana and scattered showers and thunder showers were reported in the north and central Plateau region. More hail fell in Texas, golfball size at Stanton during thundershowers.

Chicago almost set a high temperature record for June 6, missing by one degree Thursday with a 93-degree reading. The weather was warm from the most of the Great Lakes and southern New England.

Israel-Arab Relations Improved

By PHIL NEWSOM

One year after 15 foreign-flag ships still lie trapped in the Suez Canal beneath the opposing Israeli and Egyptian guns on either side, Israeli forces maintain their hold on Syria's Golan Heights, on the Jordan River's west bank, on Old Jerusalem, the Gaza Strip and two Saudi Arabian-owned islands guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aquaba.

The rattle of gunfire across the Jordan River and Arabian vows of a war of extermination against Israel make it all seem as if nothing had changed.

Yet there have been changes since the end of that six-day war, some subtle, some, such as the reinforced Soviet military presence at either end of the blocked canal and in the Persian Gulf, not so subtle.

Among the subtleties is the sobering effect the last year has had on Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic.

While Nasser's chief spokesman, Hassanein Heikal, editor of the newspaper Al Ahram continues to trumpet that a renewal of the war is inevitable, informed sources in Cairo say that Nasser himself is committed to a political settlement.

They cite as proof the fact that since last fall only a few shooting incidents have been reported in the Canal Zone.

The student-worker riots of last February gave full exposure to Nasser's multitudinous problems at home.

A further subtlety is the lack of any real resistance movement in the Israel-occupied areas of Arab territories.

Arab commando forces designed to keep the war alive have little more than nuisance value.

Israel has indicated she intends to keep the Gaza strip

and the whole of Jerusalem but would surrender other occupied territories in return for peace. Despite a seeming drift toward maintenance of the status quo, real peace still seems far away and, as the Arabs rebuild their shattered forces with Soviet aid, the dangers of an eventual renewal of the conflict remain.

A New Type of Woman:

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — In five years of American history, the assassin's bullet has thrust upon the national scene a new type of woman—the Widow of Violence.

The shooting of Sen Robert F. Kennedy, who died Thursday in a Los Angeles hospital with his wife Ethel at his side, drew attention anew to the procession of tragedy.

First, shortly after midnight on June 11, 1963, a bullet killed civil rights leader Medgar Evers in the doorway of his Jackson, Miss., home.

Lying prone on the floor inside the house as they had been taught to do at the sound of gunfire were Evers' wife Myrlie and their three children.

Five months later, on Nov. 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was shot down during a Dallas, Tex., motorcade with his wife Jacqueline at his side.

And two days later Lee Harvey Oswald who the Warren Commission said killed the President was killed by Jack Ruby, leaving Oswald's Soviet-born wife with their two youngsters in an alien country.

On April 4 of this year Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was slain while standing on the balcony of a Memphis, Tenn., motel, leaving behind his wife Coretta and their four youngsters.

Of these Widows of Violence, only the wife of Oswald has been able to regain a measure of private life. The two widows of civil rights leaders chose to remain in the spotlight to carry on their husbands' crusades.

At the same time Mrs. John F. Kennedy remains in the national limelight.

"When Medgar died, a part of

me died. And I have just existed," said his widow a year after the tragedy. Eventually Mrs. Evers, haunted by memories in Mississippi, moved to Claremont, Calif. where she enrolled at Pomona College. Now 35, she will receive a bachelor's degree on June 8. To help keep her husband's cause alive, Mrs. Evers has written a book, "For Us, the Living." She speaks regularly at NAACP meetings around the country.

The courage and gallantry that sustained Mrs. Kennedy during the ordeal of her husband's death, her majesty and sense of history in carrying out the President's state funeral, captured the admiration of the world. But the world did not let her retreat into anonymity after leaving the White House. To es-guilty to the possible additional charges, and he replied: "Yes, City water commissioner, has testified in federal court that he expects to be indicted by a Manhattan grand jury in connection with an alleged conspiracy involving $20 million worth of Consolidated Edison Co. contracts.

Marcus also said Thursday that if he is indicted he will plead guilty in the Consolidated Edison case and also will plead guilty to a charge of grand larceny and two other charges.

Testimony showed that the grand larceny charge developed from Marcus' association with William Rorick, an actor. Marcus said $15,000 was involved.

Marcus was asked if he knew the consequences of pleading

ment charges that interstate telephone calls were made to further the alleged conspiracy in violation of U. S. antiracketeering laws.

Marcus, 37, a native of Schenectady and once a close adviser to Mayor John V. Lindsay, said under cross-examination by the defense Thursday that he and Herbert Itkin, his lawyer and partner in a number of ventures, hoped to get millions of dollars from a deal that was under negotiation with the Consolidated Edison Co. last fall.

Abby Makes Last Thrust, Lashes Eastern Georgia

By United Press International

Abby, reduced from a hurricane to a "tropical storm," inched across the eastern corner of Georgia today taking with her heavy rainfall.

She was expected to die today as she moved overland from Jessup, Ga., northward at 10 miles an hour.

In her wake were storm warnings raised from Fernandina, Fla., to Charleston, S.C., but the U. S. Weather Bureau expected them to be short lived.

Savannah, Ga., recorded nearly three inches of rain in a 12-hour period ending early today. In a 24-hour period, nearly six inches fell in Jacksonville, Fla.

The weather bureau warned of the possibility of local thundershowers.

Chicago almost set a high temperature record for June 6, missing by one degree Thursday with a 93-degree reading. The weather was warm from the most of the Great Lakes and southern New England.

At 3 a. m., EDT Chicago had the rare distinction of recording the warmest temperature in the nation—81. The coldest spot at the same time was 40 at Sexton Summit, Ore.

Need New Lock System On St. Lawrence Seaway

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic in the St. Lawrence Seaway will "overflow" in the next decade unless the lock system is expanded, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says.

Hart offered his assessment Thursday in a statement for a hearing by the Army Corps of Engineers. The statement was read by Col. A. L. Wright, district engineer at Buffalo, N.Y., who conducted the one-day hearing.

Several port officials also urged construction of bigger locks.

Hart said a new seaway system is needed to handle vessels 1,000 feet long. Present locks can clear lake vessels up to 730 feet long, the senator said.

He also proposed building bigger locks on the Welland Canal. The waterway links Lake Ontario and Montreal. There now are seven locks.

Hart specifically called for construction of three locks — two adjacent to the American-built Eisenhower and Snell locks near Massena, N.Y., and the third at Point Rockaway, where the St. Lawrence River joins Lake Ontario.

Statements favoring expansion also were received from Reps. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., and Loren W. Olmstead of the Niagara Frontier Port Authority, Buffalo, N.Y., told the hearing.

"Single locks are approaching maximum efficiency," M.W. Oettershagen, one of the builders of the 10-year-old seagates, also spoke in favor of larger locks and said the system "has a far greater potential than we have so far experienced."

Rustin Issues Ultimatum on 'Poor' Authority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin gave leaders of the Poor People's March until noon today to put him in full charge of the forthcoming mass sympathy demonstration or do without him.

Rustin, organizer of the 1963 march on Washington that brought more than 200,000 persons here, said Thursday he must have "complete authority" over the June 19 demonstration or he would quit as its coordinator.

He gave march leaders 24 hours to decide.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and Hosea Williams, Southern Christian Leadership Conference officials who are directing the campaign here, disavowed Rustin's statement.

The list of specific demands for jobs, income and housing was welcomed by liberal congressmen, sympathetic to the march, who complained they could not learn from Abernathy specifically what he wanted Congress to do for the poor.

Rustin, sometimes called the theoretician of the civil rights movement, has considerable prestige and influence in both the white and Negro communities.

His association with the planned mass demonstration, designed to draw tens of thousands of sympathizers here for a one-day show of support, was considered an asset the march organizers could ill afford to lose.

In a change of pace Thursday, Abernathy announced that the residents of Resurrection City would devote slightly for their campaign for aid to the poor.

He said the slaying of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy made it necessary for the marchers also to concentrate demonstrations in protest to "the hatred and violence that is destroying all of us."

Williams said the protest marches of recent weeks would be displaced for a while by street prayer vigils against "violence and hatred."

Drug Indictment

Harold E. Reinke, 20 of Glen Head, L. I., held on narcotic charges was indicted Thursday afternoon in county court by the April grand jury. County Judge Raymond J. Mino, presided.

The indictment was read by District Attorney Joseph Torraca. Reinke was apprehended March 20 by Thruway troopers in a routine check and charged that Reinke was in possession of one-fourth ounce of marijuana. Troopers said Reinke was absent without leave from an Army post in Alabama. He was formerly charged in the indictment with criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the second degree.

LWV CONFERENCE—Information and ideas were exchanged during an area voter conference meeting Thursday of the League of Women Voters at Ulster County Community College. On hand (L) were Mrs. Irving Harris, vice-president, and Mrs. John Johnson, president of the Kingston League; Mrs. Bernard Forster, representing the state board, and Mrs. Roy Ickes, constitution study chairman. The local LWV members served as hostesses to the 175 members. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Olive Board Accepts Bid For Pavilion

The Town of Olive Board met recently and accepted a bid of $5,800 for the building of a pavilion at the town grove. The bid went to Singer-Denman Hardware and Lumber Company of Boiceville.

Highest bid for the project totaled $12,068.75.

The awarding of the project to the Boiceville company came after expiation of the firm's blueprints and specifications.

In other action, Deerfield Road in Boiceville will become a town road and will be maintained by the town's Highway department.

The road met the established town specifications.

It was announced that a recent canvassing of the town established that the area has a population of 2,503 people. The census was based on a six or more months residency in the town requirement and had no connection with taxpaying whatsoever.

The cost of a family seasonal ticket for the West Shokan pool was raised from $10 to $15. At this time, no date has been established for the opening of the pool.

It was made known that the town dump will be open on Monday, Thursday, and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. and on Sunday from 1 to 6 p. m. Bills from the general fund in the amount of $2,688.32 and from the highway fund in the amount of $3,685.49 were approved for payment.

The meeting was closed in memory of Joe Winkler.

Saugerties Man Charged With Rape of Girl, 20

State Police BCI men arrested a telephone and called the Woodstock police.

Because of the seriousness of the charge, a careful investigation was launched before the suspect was picked up.

During the one day delay, the girl was reportedly shown photographs of the subject.

Identification was allegedly made through the photos.

According to Justice Davis, the rape charge falls under a class B felony ruling of the new penal code with a minimum sentence being three years in prison and the maximum being 25 years.

After being taken to the Woodstock police headquarters for identification purposes, Elmore was brought before Justice Davis where the formal charge was made.

The Saugerties man was remanded to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $500 bail to await a preliminary hearing before Justice Davis at 3 p. m. today.

According to State Police reports, the girl, who was not identified, was hitchhiking on Wednesday from Woodstock to Saugerties along Route 212 when she was allegedly picked up by Elmore.

In her statement, the girl claimed she told Elmore she was looking for an apartment or a house to rent for the summer.

Elmore reportedly brought her to the home of a relative in the vicinity of West Saugerties where the alleged attack took place.

Reports state that the girl eventually left the house, ran across a meadow and through a wooded area, before she reached Machias Bay, Maine, where the British cutter Margaretta was captured, was the scene of the first naval battle of the American Revolution.

Need New Lock System On St. Lawrence Seaway

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic in the St. Lawrence Seaway will "overflow" in the next decade unless the lock system is expanded, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says.

Hart offered his assessment Thursday in a statement for a hearing by the Army Corps of Engineers. The statement was read by Col. A. L. Wright, district engineer at Buffalo, N.Y., who conducted the one-day hearing.

Several port officials also urged construction of bigger locks.

Hart said a new seaway system is needed to handle vessels 1,000 feet long. Present locks can clear lake vessels up to 730 feet long, the senator said.

He also proposed building bigger locks on the Welland Canal. The waterway links Lake Ontario and Montreal. There now are seven locks.

Hart specifically called for construction of three locks — two adjacent to the American-built Eisenhower and Snell locks near Massena, N.Y., and the third at Point Rockaway, where the St. Lawrence River joins Lake Ontario.

Statements favoring expansion also were received from Reps. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., and Loren W. Olmstead of the Niagara Frontier Port Authority, Buffalo, N.Y., told the hearing "single locks are approaching maximum efficiency."

M.W. Oettershagen, one of the builders of the 10-year-old seaway, also spoke in favor of larger locks and said the system "has a far greater potential than we have so far experienced."

Rustin Issues Ultimatum on 'Poor' Authority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Civil rights leader Bayard Rustin gave leaders of the Poor People's March until noon today to put him in full charge of the forthcoming mass sympathy demonstration or do without him.

Rustin, organizer of the 1963 march on Washington that brought more than 200,000 persons here, said Thursday he must have "complete authority" over the June 19 demonstration or he would quit as its coordinator.

He gave march leaders 24 hours to decide.

The leaders have been feuding with Rustin since Sunday when he issued a 14-point list of march aims in their names.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and Hosea Williams, Southern Christian Leadership Conference officials who are directing the campaign here, disavowed Rustin's statement.

The list of specific demands for jobs, income and housing was welcomed by liberal congressmen, sympathetic to the march, who complained they could not learn from Abernathy specifically what he wanted Congress to do for the poor.

Rustin, sometimes called the theoretician of the civil rights movement, has considerable prestige and influence in both the white and Negro communities.

His association with the planned mass demonstration, designed to draw tens of thousands of sympathizers here for a one-day show of support, was considered an asset the march organizers could ill afford to lose.

Prayer Vigils

In a change of pace Thursday, Abernathy announced that the residents of Resurrection City would devote slightly from their campaign for aid to the poor.

He said the slaying of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy made it necessary for the marchers also to concentrate demonstrations in protest to "the hatred and violence that is destroying all of us."

Williams said the protest marches of recent weeks would be displaced for a while by street prayer vigils against "violence and hatred."

Drug Indictment

Harold E. Reinke, 20 of Glen Head, L. I., held on narcotic charges was indicted Thursday afternoon in county court by the April grand jury. County Judge Raymond J. Mino, presided.

The indictment was read by District Attorney Joseph Torraca. Reinke was apprehended March 20 by Thruway troopers in a routine check and charged that Reinke was in possession of one-fourth ounce of marijuana. Troopers said Reinke was absent without leave from an Army post in Alabama. He was formerly charged in the indictment with criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the second degree.

LWV CONFERENCE—Information and ideas were exchanged during an area voter conference meeting Thursday of the League of Women Voters at Ulster County Community College. On hand (L) were Mrs. Irving Harris, vice-president, and Mrs. John Johnson, president of the Kingston League; Mrs. Bernard Forster, representing the state board, and Mrs. Roy Ickes, constitution study chairman. The local LWV members served as hostesses to the 175 members. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Olive Board Accepts Bid For Pavilion

The Town of Olive Board met recently and accepted a bid of $5,800 for the building of a pavilion at the town grove. The bid went to Singer-Dennman Hardware and Lumber Company of Boiceville.

Highest bid for the project totaled $12,068.75.

The awarding of the project to the Boiceville company came after expiration of the firm's blueprints and specifications.

In other action, Deerfield Road in Boiceville will become a town road and will be maintained by the town's Highway Department.

The road met the established town specifications. It was announced that a recent canvassing of the town established that the area has a population of 2,503 people.

The census was based on a six or more months residency in the town requirement and had no connection with taxpaying whatsoever.

The cost of a family seasonal ticket for the West Shokan pool was raised from $10 to $15. At this time, no date has been established for the opening of the pool.

It was made known that the town dump will be open on Monday, Thursday, and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., and on Sunday from 1 to 6 p. m.

Bills from the general fund in the amount of $2,688.32 and from the highway fund in the amount of $3,685.49 were approved for payment.

The meeting was closed in memory of Joe Winkler.

After being taken to the Woodstock police headquarters for identification purposes, Elmore was brought before Justice Davis where the formal charge was made.

The Saugerties man was remanded to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $500 bail to await a preliminary hearing before Justice Davis at 3 p. m. today.

According to State Police reports, the girl, who was not identified, was hitchhiking on Wednesday from Woodstock to Saugerties along Route 212 when she was allegedly picked up by Elmore.

In her statement, the girl claimed she told Elmore she was looking for an apartment or a house to rent for the summer.

Elmore reportedly brought her to the home of a relative in the vicinity of West Saugerties where the alleged attack took place.

Reports state that the girl eventually left the house, ran across a meadow and through a wooded area, before she reached Machias Bay, Maine, where the British cutter Margaretta was captured, was the scene of the first naval battle of the American Revolution.

Faster Gibson Throws Higher St. Louis Soars

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer

The faster Bob Gibson throws, the higher St. Louis soars. Gibson, winner of three games in the World Series last year, fired a three-hitter for his best effort of the season Thursday night to give the rampaging Cardinals a 4-0 victory over the Houston Astros and extend their winning streak to nine games.

"Gibson threw harder tonight than he did the other two times he's pitched against us this season," said Grady Hatton, the Astros' manager. "He was wilder but he was faster."

In an amazing reversal of form, St. Louis has stretched its National League lead to 3½ games after falling as far back as fourth place a week ago Wednesday. The Cardinals dropped 11 of 13 games before embarking on their current streak.

The other pitchers made their mark in National League activity Thursday. Juan Marichal took over third place among all-time Giants strikeout artists as San Francisco beat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-2 and Dick Selma set a Met record triumph in leading New York to a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Selma, the first Met pitcher

Andy Kosco, the New York

baseball opener last night at

Dietz Stadium. But he had to share the spotlight with pitcher

Ron Thomas of the Braves.

Thomas unfurled a beautiful

3-hitter, embellished with 17

League Rookie League debut with a hard earned 3-2 victory

Rockets.

A disappointing crowd of less than 200 fans saw Kosco swing

The new Yankee sensation

of the bank in left center field

drive "hits." He also had his share of popups and grounders

Three Runs in First

The New Windsor pitcher—

Dennis Robinson—slammed the

the first inning and throttling a bases-loaded situation in the

Thomas, meanwhile, blanked

nings, before being victimized for two unearned runs in the sixth inning. He had two strings of five straight strikeouts in racking up his total of 17. He deserved a shutout.

Robinson matched Thomas in effectiveness after the rocky

strikeouts.

Ron Valle led off with a walk

second. Valle then kept onto third and made it when Ray

Marshall dropped the ball. Pete

Watzka singled Valle home and he scored on Paul Buytjens' booming triple to center. Buytjens scored the third run when shortstop Joe Lahey booted Joe

Schabot's grounder.

Andy Kosco, the New York Yankee slugger, got the advance billing for the Kingston Braves baseball opener last night at Dietz Stadium. But he had to share the spotlight with pitcher Ron Thomas of the Braves.

Thomas unfurled a beautiful 3-hitter, embellished with 17 strikeouts, as the Braves made their Hudson Valley American Legion Rookie League debut with a hard earned 3-2 victory over the New York Windsor Rockets.

A disappointing crowd of less than 200 fans saw Kosco swing for about 10 minutes against the slants of Charlie James, the Kingston High School strikeout artist.

The new Yankee sensation slammed one drive near the top of the bank in left center field and got off several other line drive "hits." He also had his share of popups and grounders that would have been outs.

Three Runs in First
The New Windsor pitcher—Dennis Robinson—slammed the door shut on the Braves after yielding three unearned runs in the first inning and throttling a bases-loaded situation in the second.

Thomas, meanwhile, blanked the Rockets through five innings, before being victimized for two unearned runs in the sixth inning. He had two strings of five straight strikeouts in racking up his total of 17. He deserved a shutout.

Robinson intoned Thomas in effectiveness after the rocky first inning and finished with 12 strikeouts.

Ron Valle led off with a walk in the Kingston first. Mike Derrenbacher sacrificed him to second. Valle then kept onto second and made it when Ray Marshall dropped the ball. Pete Watzka singled Valle home and he scored on Paul Butkins' booming triple to center. Butkins scored the third run when shortstop Joe Lahey booted Joe Schabot's grounder.

Two Errors Hurt
In the New Windsor sixth, second baseman Gary Rhodes led off with a single that was played into a triple. Robinson, the pitcher, was safe on Derrenbacher's error. As Rhodes held third. Both runners scored on a long single by Joe Lahey.

The Braves loaded the bases with none out in the second but Robinson worked his way unscathed. Thomas fanned the side in the seventh inning to complete the contest with a flourish.

DIAMOND DUST:
With Thomas and Robinson dominating the game, no player on either side collected more than one hit. Butkins' triple was the only extra baser... With perfect support, Thomas and Robinson might have battled to a scoreless tie in the seven innings... All Rookie League contests are limited to seven innings.

The New Windsor Rockets were managed by Elto Giammarco, long time Newburgh baseball figure, and one time player in the New York Yankee farm system... He is high on Robinson as a pitcher... Andy Kosco proved to be one of the most personable big leaguers ever to show here. He made a nice speech before the game and wished Fred Davi and the Braves good luck in their new venture.

for the Dietz contests. Last night's attendance of less than 200 for a brand new league and excellent local ball club was disappointing to say the least. The weather and setting was perfect for a banner turnout which never materialized. Kosco told the crowd he felt Mike Ferraro would return to Yankee Stadium, perhaps before the present season is over. In pre-game ceremonies, Richard Scherer, the singing patrolman, sang the national anthem and moment of silent prayer was observed out of respect to the memory of Senator Robert F. Kennedy... The Braves have postponed two scheduled weekend games with Wappingers Falls, in line with a national moratorium on sports. The boxscore:

Howard Cracks 22nd Homer for Senators

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Galump... Galump... Galump... The familiar sound of 6-foot-7, 260-pound Frank Howard tipping around the bases was No. 1 on the American League hit parade in May when the big guy hammered 15 home runs.

Howard's tune is still getting plenty of play this month, but all of a sudden he's got company. Home runs dominated four American League games Thursday with only Cleveland's 2-1, 11th inning victory over Chicago free of the long ball.

Howard and Ron Hansen homered for Washington's 4-3 victory over Oakland, Minnesota trimmed New York 2-0 on Tony Oliva's homer, Norm Cash and Jim Northrup homered, helping Detroit past Boston 5-3, and California stood off a three-homer barrage to defeat Baltimore 8-6. Howard socked his 22nd home run of the year and second in as many nights in the first inning against Oakland. An inning later, Hansen added his No. 5 as the Senators jumped to a 4-0 lead.

Frank Bertina worked five shutout innings with the bulge but the A's knocked him out in the sixth, scoring two runs on Mike Hersberger's pinch triple and three singles. Dennis Higgins pitched out of the jam and another in the seventh when he struck out Ted Kubiak and Rick Monday with the tying run on third base.

Oliva Unloads
Oliva unloaded in the second inning against the Yankees after Harmon Killebrew had singled. That was enough for Dave Boswell and Al Worthington who combined for Minnesota's shutout.

The homer was Oliva's seventh of the year, and, like Howard, his second in two days. Boswell worked into the seventh inning but wilted in 93-degree heat and Worthington finished.

Beacon Blanks Ray's In Softball, 5 to 0

That second victory in the Sunday. Ray's were scheduled Hudson Valley Softball League eluded Ray's Chevrolet's again last night, as they were victimized by the 2-hit pitching of Jack Spohr of Beacon, 5-0, at Block Park.

The setback dropped the locals to a 1-3 rating in the league.

Spohr throttled the only challenge thrown at him the Chevrolet's in the sixth inning. Richie Sickler led off with a triple and was still at third when the inning was over.

Spohr struck out 10 and didn't walk a batter to win the decision over Bill Costello, who lost a tough 4-hitter. All the runs off Costello were unearned and he struck out eight.

Three infield errors and a basehit by Tom Thiess accounted for three Beacon runs in the third inning. In the sixth, the Dutchess tossers picked up two more tallies on a hit and two more Chevrolet errors.

Richie Hoffman picked up a single for the other Chevrolet hit off Spohr. Thiess, a former Beacon city baseball star, had half of the Beacon hits. The others went to Prince and Kellenner.

Backed by errorless support, Spohr faced only 23 batters—two over the minimum in the seven inning contest.

Three games were originally scheduled this weekend. Middletown was to play Newburgh Saturday and Green Haven on Sunday.

The Kennedy Mourning and All Is Not Harmonious

Mets Refuse to Play Saturday Game in SF

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The sports world will join the rest of the nation in paying tribute to the slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy this weekend in the only way it can—by postponing some events and canceling others.

Affected sports include major and minor league baseball, thoroughbred and harness racing, boxing, auto racing and power boat racing. But all was not harmonious.

The New York Mets balked at playing baseball at all Saturday and said they would not show up for their scheduled game against the Giants in San Francisco. New York's Belmont Park will hold its Saturday racing program against the wishes of its board of trustees by order of the State Racing Commission.

Three major league baseball games scheduled for Saturday were postponed and none of the others will start until after the funeral. Two Sunday games also were put off. Today's schedule remains intact.

Some Games Delayed

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert ordered the postponement of Saturday games in Washington and New York and directed the start of all other contests be delayed until after the burial.

Three games scheduled for the afternoon were changed to night contests. But the Chicago Cubs, whose Wrigley Field has no lights, were forced to postpone their game with Atlanta.

The Mets' players took two ballots Thursday and voted unanimously both times not to play Saturday. The Giants had scheduled Saturday as Bat Day, a club promotion and a crowd of more than 30,000 was expected.

The Mets' front office backed up the players 100 per cent. Both M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board, and Johnny Murphy, vice president and general manager, said they were in complete sympathy with the Mets' players.

Belmont Park canceled today's racing program, which included the 68th annual Grand National Steeplechase. The race will be run next Friday. Belmont wanted to cancel Saturday's card, as well.

The state gets about $500,000 in tax revenue from a normal Saturday at Belmont.

However, eight New York State tracks—two thoroughbred and six harness plants—canceled today's programs.

In California, where Sen. Kennedy was assassinated, the state commission ruled that Bay Meadows, Golden Gate Fields and Hollywood Park would operate today and Saturday.

Motorcycle Race At Orange Track

The matinee program, sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association as a Class C event, starts at 2 p. m.

Nine races will be run, two heats and a final in each of three classes—Novice, Amateur and Expert. In addition, Novice riders will run elimination heats to qualify for the program. Amateurs and Experts must compete in time trials.

Most of the prominent east coast riders are expected to appear. Harry Williams, of Poughkeepsie, one of the top Novice riders in the east, also is slated.

On Sunday, June 16, the track hosts the American Race Drivers Club (ARDC) and United Racing Club (URC) sprint cars. The twilight bill is penciled in for a 6 p. m. start.

Ferraro's HR, Double Hike Average to .328

Mike Ferraro knocked in two runs with a double and home run, as the Syracuse Chiefs snapped the Toledo Mud Hens' 8-game winning streak, 4-2 in the International League game last night.

The two safeties boosted Ferraro's average to .328 on 22 hits in 67 at bats. He has three home runs and 15 runs batted in, second only to Len Boehmer, who has been to the plate 186 times.

Ferraro's .328 leads the cellar ridden Chiefs. Syracuse writers said Mike has been hitting consistently since he was sent down by the parent Yankees but was not hitting for distance until he exploded for the home run and two-bagger last night.

Syracuse lost its manager Gary Blaylock Wednesday night. Blaylock suddenly resigned, with the Chiefs mired in the cellar of the International League with 15 wins and 25 defeats. He has been replaced temporarily by interim manager Steve Souchak.

Crampton Golf Leader

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Bruce Crampton of Australia carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament.

Crampton rattled off four birdies on the back nine Thursday and finished with a four-under-par 68.

Billy Casper, PGA leading money winner, was tied for second with a 70 after being penalized two strokes when his caddy raked a sand trap before Casper hit on the third hole.

The efforts by Crampton and Casper, who played together, overshadowed the fine shooting of John Lively and Masters champion Bob Goalby.

Lively, 28, of Canton, Tex., shot a hole-in-one on the par 3, 204-yard 17th hole, and Goalby fired his first double-eagle on the par 5 503-yard seventh hole.

Casper, Goalby and Lively were locked in a seven-way tie for second place with Speedway defending champ Frank Beard.

Don Fairfield, Jim Grant and Bobby Cole.

Jack Tuthill, PGA tournament director, said a special service in memory of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will precede the tournament's final round Sunday. Players will wear black tabs on their clothes as part of the national day of mourning proclaimed by President Johnson.

Lively hit a three-iron that bounced on a bank in front of the green and rolled into the cup. He birdied the next hole with an 18-foot putt.

Legionnaires' Rally Topples Lions Club

American Legion rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh to overcome the Lions Club 4-3 at Loughran field last night.

George Stulb singled to start the uprising. Vince Hart scored Stulb with a booming triple and then Hart was scored on a double by John Geuss.

Hart held the Lions Club at bay with 13 strikeouts and gave up five free passes. Loser Jim Brown fanned six and walked four and Tim O'Donnell whiffed one.

Davis Cuppers Seeking Revenge

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The American Davis Cup tennis team starts tonight on a task it has been looking forward to for a year—revenge for a 3-2 defeat by Ecuador.

In the first match on the indoor courts of the Charlotte Coliseum tonight, Arthur Ashe plays Pancho Guzman, who defeated him in Quayaquil, Ecuador, in 1967.

In tonight's second singles match, Clark Graebner will play Miguel Olivera.

The doubles will be played Saturday night, and the final two singles Sunday afternoon. Postponing play on Sunday, the day of mourning for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was considered, but because of prior commitments by players of both teams the schedule will be adhered to.

Olympic Group Chooses Barnes

NEW YORK (AP)—Everett "Eppy" Barnes, retired athletic director at Colgate University and former president of the NCAA, has been named acting executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee. He will be the chief executive for the U.S. Olympic team at Mexico City, Oct. 12-27.

President Douglas F. Roby of the USOC announced the appointment of the 67-year-old Barnes Thursday.

Barnes will fill in for ailing Arthur G. Lentz, the executive director of the USOC. Lentz suffered a minor coronary in late April and has been given a six-month leave of absence.

A Colgate graduate, Barnes played pro baseball with the Pittsburgh Pirates and then returned to Colgate as baseball coach and assistant athletic director. He was appointed athletic director in 1955.

Olympic Group Chooses Barnes

NEW YORK (AP) — Everett "Eppy" Barnes, retired athletic director at Colgate University and former president of the NCAA, has been named acting executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee. He will be the chief executive for the U.S. Olympic team at Mexico City, Oct. 12-27.

President Douglas F. Roby of the USOC announced the appointment of the 67-year-old Barnes Thursday.

Barnes will fill in for ailing Arthur G. Lentz, the executive director of the USOC. Lentz suffered a minor coronary in late April and has been given a six-month leave of absence.

A Colgate graduate, Barnes played pro baseball with the Pittsburgh Pirates and then returned to Colgate as baseball coach and assistant athletic director. He was appointed athletic director in 1955.

Crampton Golf Leader

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Bruce Crampton of Australia carried a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament.

Crampton rattled off four birdies on the back nine Thursday and finished with a four-under-par 68.

Billy Casper, PGA leading money winner, was tied for second with a 70 after being penalized two strokes when his caddy raked a sand trap before Casper hit on the third hole.

The efforts by Crampton and Casper, who played together, overshadowed the fine shooting of John Lively and Masters champion Bob Goaly.

Lively, 28, of Canton, Tex., shot a hole-in-one on the par 3 204-yard 17th hole, and Goaly fired his first double-eagle on the par 5 500-yard seventh hole.

Casper, Goaly and Lively were locked in a seven-way tie for second place with Speedway defending champ Frank Beard.

Nevele Song Is Feature Winner

MONTICELLO—Arthur (Lannie) Bier, pinching for the absent Mike Vicidomini, put a new lifetime mark on Nevele Song last night at Monticello Raceway, winning the featured $1,500 trot by three lengths in a nifty 2:06.4.

Bier, born and raised in Sullivan County, the mighty M's location but now a resident of Jessup, Pa., guided the four-year-old gelding to a gate-to-wire romp over the field of eight.

Leaving from post five, Bier shot the son of Sharpshooter and Contrail, by way of Gay Song, right to the front and was never less than two lengths ahead of the closest horse.

Going off the co-favorite with Ozark Hanover, both at 9-5, Nevele Song paid $5.80, 4.20 and 3.00. Second was Amy C. (3), paying $5.80 and 3.60 and Ozark Hanover (4) was worth $3.00 for show.

The daily double found a pair of longshots causing a $278.60 double as Wisk Broom Direct ($12.00) topped the first and Miss Steadfast ($29.00) won the second. The combination was 1-7.

18-Foot Vault Target Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight of the top pole vaulters compete tonight in the Coliseum-Compton track and field meet, still looking for the world's first 18-foot vault.

The record shot from 15-9 to 17-7½ since the advent of the fiber glass pole.

But the vaulters themselves haven't been consistent this year at even 17 feet. The best of the group this year has been Bob Seagren of the University of Southern California with a vault of 17-6½.

Seagren opposes two other 17-footers, Dick Railsback of UCLA and Chris Pampicolaou of San Jose State, as well as five 16-footers, including John Pennel, who once held the world record at 17-6.

That won't be the only close duel of the night. Almost every race and field event has a world class athlete.

The 100-meter dash has so many top sprinters it will be run in two heats with finals later in the evening. Long jumpers Bob Beamon and Ralph Boston are favored but two other 26-foot jumpers, Jerry Proctor and Gayle Hopkins, are good bets to upset.

Ventriglia, a Poughkeepsie native who earned All-America honors while at State University College (New Paltz) led teammate Elliott Pobbi-Asare from the Republic of Ghana, by three goals.

The Kickers, under Manager Bob Graves, captured their first League Division title with 31 points on 14 victories, 3 ties and two defeats. In soccer, wins count two points, ties one.

With Ventriglia and Pobbi-Asare setting a fast pace, the Kickers led all teams in scoring with a whopping (for soccer) average of 4.1 goals per game. On defense, they yielded only 1.45 points a contest.

Other scorers were: Jim Reinhardt 7, Kalter Grasmeyer, Richie Lotze, Reiner Schwebel, 6 each; Kasim Selmotic, 3; Luis Horacio, Lee Roberts, Jake Fros, Aldo Forte, Bill Newmerzhsky, one each.

By virtue of their League Division championship, the Kickers are moving up to the fast Premier division for the 1968-69 season. The move will enable Sport Club fans to see some of the finest amateur soccer teams in the metropolitan area.

The Premier schedule begins in late summer. In the meantime, the Kickers will play several exhibition games and the annual Hudson Valley tournaments. Dates will be announced.

Dear Abby

He Resents Wife's Pen Pal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Last November I saw a piece in your column about what the boys in Viet Nam wanted for Christmas, and one lonely soldier said he wanted mail. Well I wrote to him, and we started up a correspondence. He is only 20 years old. I have a son about his age, as well as other children. This lonely soldier wrote many wonderful letters and he even sent pictures of himself. I wrote to him and sent some packages. My children feel like they know him. At first my husband was all for it. But here is the problem.

My husband is jealous of this kid. I am 35 years old and I think of this boy as a "son." I even start my letters to him "DEAR SON." And he writes "Dear Mom" to me. (His own mother is dead, and he has had a rough life.)

I told my husband there was nothing between us, but he says he wants me to quit writing. Abby, I can't let this boy down now. I even invited him to visit us when he gets out in June. My husband won't listen to me. He says he doesn't want any more mail going between us and to tell the kid he isn't welcome here. I would like your advice on this matter. If something were to happen to this boy I would always think it was my fault.

MIDWEST MOM

DEAR MOM: I think your husband is wrong, immature and evil-minded, but that's another problem. Don't defy him, however, but do try to get someone to show him the kinks in thinking, and implore him to change his mind. Of course with your husband's present attitude, you cannot allow the boy to visit you.

DEAR ABBY: You were so right when you told that woman that she could report the driving ability of someone she knows to be a menace on the streets, but she couldn't guarantee that she would get results. About 10 years ago I reported my grandfather who was about to apply for a renewal of his driver's license. I suggested that he be carefully tested because he had no right to be driving a car. To prove that I wasn't some crank, I even signed my name.

Nothing was done about it. I didn't even receive a courteous reply to my letter. My grandfather resumed driving.

Now a few facts about grandfather: He was so blind he couldn't read a newspaper without a magnifying glass. (This, in addition to his reading glasses!) He boasted that he never signaled for anything. In fact, when other drivers signaled he would bet on their close a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HATE TO WRITE LETTERS? SEND $1 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069. FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Today we will give you the South cards and let you assume that you are playing in the finals of a major championship event with one of the greatest players in the world sitting on your right. Just to make it a trifle more fair (or is it?) We are going to assume that you also are one of the world's best. You make some effort to get to seven after your partner's jump raise of your spade response but settle for the small slam when you find one king is held by your opponents. You are a trifle disappointed in the dummy because there are two potential losing tricks, but not too unhappy since you your great skill. You can try the spade finesse and fall back on a possible club — diamond squeeze if it loses. But there is a better line of play. At trick two you lead a spade to your ace. The king fails to drop but both opponents have followed and you are ready to prepare an elimination play. You lead a club to dummy and ruff a third club. You cash your king of hearts and dummy's ace and ruff dummy's last club.

Now you play a low spade and are happy when West wins with the king. The spade finesse would not have worked if you had tried it.

You have stripped yourself of everything but trumps and diamonds and West must lead a diamond unless he wants to make the give-up play of letting you ruff a heart in one hand and discard a diamond from the other.

If the diamond honors are divided and West leads a low diamond you will pick up one honor and finesse for the other but West leads the jack of diamonds. He is perfectly capable of false-carding and leading jack from jack-queen, but he is equally capable of leading jack from jack and two small. You decide to stick to your original plan of playing for split honors and rise with dummy's king. Then you finesse against East's queen and sit back to listen to kibitzer applause. My husband is jealous of this kid. I am 35 years old and I think of this boy as a son. I even start my letters to him "DEAR SON." And he writes "Dear Mom" to me. (His own mother is dead, and he has had a rough life.)

I told my husband there was nothing between us, but he says he wants me to quit writing. Abby, I can't let this boy down

now. I even invited him to visit us when he gets out in June. My husband won't listen to me. He says he doesn't want any more mail going between us and to tell the kid he isn't welcome here. I would like your advice on this matter. If something were to happen to this boy I would always think it was my fault.

MIDWEST MOM husband is wrong, immature and evil-minded, but that's another problem. Don't defy him, however, but do try to get someone to show him the kinks in thinking, and implore him to change his mind. Of course with your husband's present attitude, you cannot allow the boy to visit you.

DEAR ABBY: You were so right when you told that woman that she could report the driving ability of someone she knows to be a menace on the streets, but you couldn't guarantee that she would get results. About 10 years ago I reported my grandfather who was about to apply for a renewal of his driver's license. I suggested that he be carefully tested because he had no right to be driving a car. To prove that I wasn't some crank, I even signed my name.

Nothing was done about it. I didn't even receive a courteous reply to my letter. My grandfather resumed driving.

Now a few facts about grandfather: He was so blind he couldn't read a newspaper without a magnifying glass. (This, in addition to his reading glasses!) He boasted that he never signaled for anything. In fact, when other drivers signaled he would bet on their doing exactly the opposite, and would act accordingly, and he was usually right. His wife used to laugh over the "amusing" incidents relating to Grandfather's poor driving — such as the store owners who reserved special parking places for him.

where his slam-bang driving wouldn't cause too much damage to the other cars. There were other incidents involving property damage, knocking over stop signs, fire hydrants, etc. In retrospect, I am thankful that nothing more serious resulted from Grandfather's notorious driving. Now I pray that there are no well-meaning "Grandpas" charging thru our town when my children come home from school.

Today we will give you the South cards and let you assume that you are playing in the finals of a major championship event with one of the greatest players in the world sitting on your right. Just to make it a trifle more fair (or is it?) We are going to assume that you also are one of the world's best. You make some effort to get to seven after your partner's jump raise of your spade response but settle for the small slam when you find one king is held by your opponents. You are a trifle disappointed in the dummy because there are two potential losing tricks, but not too unhappy since you will have a chance to display your great skill. You can try the spade finesse and fall back on a possible club — diamond squeeze if it loses. But there is a better line of play. At trick two you lead a spade to your ace. The king fails to drop but both opponents have followed and you are ready to prepare an elimination play. You lead a club to dummy's ace and ruff dummy's last club.

Now you play a low spade and are happy when West wins with the king. The spade finesse would not have worked if you had tried it. You have stripped yourself of everything but trumps and diamonds and West must lead a diamond unless he wants to make the give-up play of letting you ruff a heart in one hand and discard a diamond from the other.

If the diamond honors are divided and West leads a low diamond you will pick up one honor and finesse for the other but West leads the jack of diamonds. He is perfectly capable of false-carding and leading jack from jack-queen, but he is equally capable of leading jack from jack and two small. You decide to stick to your original plan of playing for split honors and rise with dummy's king. Then you finesse against East's queen and sit back to listen to kibitzer applause. Kennedy Story: TV Excels

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Ap Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The day that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy died became, through the intimacy of television, a long period of emotion, introspection and grief for millions of people.

Efficiently, Tastefully

From the moment early Thursday that press secretary Frank Mankiewicz, in a voice muted and tight with strain, announced that the 42-year-old presidential aspirant had succumbed to an assassin's bullet, the television networks carried the story in detail into countless American homes. And again, they performed magnificently, efficiently and above all—with taste and respect for the bereavement of the Kennedy family.

NBC abandoned regular programming for the entire day and concentrated on the Kennedy tragedy. CBS and ABC returned to regular programming for some periods but were on deck for all the important, visual aspects of the period.

There was so much to be seen—so many faces, so much analysis and second-guessing, so many reminiscences, so many tributes—over the long hours that by the time the casket was carried into St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York and the great bronze doors closed, it actually seemed a relief.

But some of the sights and sounds will stand out in memory of a long time:

The hearse-led motorcade carrying the Kennedy group from the hospital to the Air Force jet at Los Angeles, followed all the way by TV camera-equipped helicopters.

Members of the Kennedy family joining hands around the casket on the lift that carried them up to the forward hatch of the plane.

The Quiet Crowds

The quiet tractable crowds in both Los Angeles and New York.

David Brinkley closing his broadcast as the plane took off by saying with concealed anger, "There they go. . . Three widows of men murdered by political assassins," referring to Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. all on the plane.

While all three networks performed conscientiously and well, NBC must be singled out for special comment on two portions of its coverage.

During the hour before the arrival of the plane in New York, Washington correspondent Ray Scherer sat with three other close friends of the Kennedys for a warm and intimate talk about the New York senator, his wife and their way of life. They were comedian Jack Paar, columnist Art Buchwald and, most interesting of all, Rene Carpenter, wife of former astronaut Scott Carpenter.

Told Anecdotes

They told anecdotes. They combined to explain the difference between the public Robert Kennedy and the private one, and they did it better than has been done before. They told of the fine relationship between the man and his wife.

Later, correspondent Sander Vanocur, who had been a passenger on the transcontinental trip, joined colleagues at the network's New York studio to report on the journey. He told how the family took turns sitting on the floor beside the casket.

There will be special coverage of St. Patrick's Cathedral today as Kennedy lies there, and on Saturday the three networks will devote practically the entire day to the funeral services in New York and the cortege en route to Washington.

PERRINE'S BRIDGE

50 Pct. Matching Grant

Big Breakthrough for Rifton Span

By JEAN F. DOLAN
A major breakthrough in preservation plans for Perrine's Bridge was made this week. The New York State Historic Trust approved a matching 50 per cent grant in aid for up to $25,000 toward the restoration of the Rifton span which has been the object of preservation efforts for more than 12 years.

Build in 1850
The covered bridge, built in 1850, is an example of Burr truss construction. Through years of neglect it has fallen into a sad state of disrepair. The Perrine's Bridge Committee was formed two years ago to concentrate restoration efforts before the span fell into the Wallkill River.

The state grant will be matched by the county. A. K. Morgan, general manager of the Palisades State Park Commission will be state liaison officer for the project with Richard Sanders Allen of Round Lake, a recognized authority on covered bridges, as consultant. Allen will review the authenticity of the restoration with Albert Milliken, architect for the Perrine's Bridge Committee.

Word of the state grant was received by Peter J. Savago, county legislature chairman, from Conrad L. Wirth, chairman of the state historic trust following a recent meeting in Albany.

Savago said he was pleased about the grant and expressed hope "that this historic site will become a significant asset to the community at large."

He commended Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and the Per-rine's Bridge Committee for their efforts in bringing the preservation project to this point.

'Long Uphill Fight'
John Grady, president of the bridge committee, said it has been "a long uphill fight."

It was through the committee that the matching $25,000 was made available by the former county board of supervisors. Next step will be for the present county legislature to transfer the allocation to the project. Assistance agreements for the payment of the state grant in aid are being prepared and will be forwarded to Savago's office through the Palisades Park Commission.

Also under consideration are picnic and parking facilities to enhance the site. Elmer Carney, vice-president of the committee and long time worker for the preservation of the span, said that a rally at the bridge is planned in the near future to inform the public of project details.

Museum Possibility

where artifacts and memorabilia of the covered bridge days would be displayed. Many interested persons have contacted the committee during the past few months offering items for such a museum.

Carney said that right now the main concern of the committee is a campaign for additional funds to improve the site.

Many Involved
Many have been involved in bringing the restoration project to this point. In addition to the efforts of Assemblyman Wilson and Savago, the committee extended appreciation to Roger Mable, who was supervisor of the Town of Esopus and is now county legislator of the Seventh District. Gerard DeFelice, Town of Rosendale supervisor, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick and many others who acted on behalf of the bridge restoration project.

Carney noted that it was "not a political situation" and both Republican and Democratic lawmakers worked toward preservation of a part of historic Ulster.

Fiery Crash Claims 2, Third Person Critical

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)

The fiery collision of three automobiles has claimed the lives of two persons and a third is in critical condition here, police say.

They said Mrs. Joan Ford, 28, of Tonawanda and William Blackwell, 42, of Sanborn were fatally burned Thursday.

Mrs. Dolores Jordan, 26, of North Tonawanda was in critical condition with multiple burns. They were all in one of the vehicles.

The driver of the second car was treated for minor burns and released.

The third car in the accident was parked and unoccupied.

Mrs. Ford lived at 304 Hinds St., Blackwell at 5861 West Ave.

Mrs. Jordan lives at 15 17th St.

Macmillan in Tearful U.S. Plea

LONDON (UPI)—Tears on his cheeks and a lump in his throat, Harold Macmillan asked his fellow Britons Thursday night to show a little understanding for their American cousins.

The 74-year-old former prime minister, addressing a nation shocked by the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, said harsh, wrong things were being said about America and its people.

"What is the American people? What are they? They are our people, who went out from this island, all refugees, all persecuted."

Fought to Control Voice
"The Catholics to Maryland, the dissenters to New England, because at home they couldn't hold their faith and live their lives," he said during a nationally televised speech.

"More and more people came, but many of them refugees too from all over Europe, now they are even from Asia."

Tears ran down his cheeks, Macmillan, who knew Kennedy well, fought to control his voice. His mother had been an American. He wanted no misunderstanding.

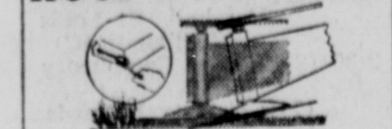

"So America is this vast continent, this huge population which hasn't yet, as it were, settled down into the melting pot... it has problems. It is a frontier line still."

Macmillan said his mother, the late Helen Belles of Indiana, used to "pull down the blinds every night when the sun went down... It was her tradition because the Indians were on the other side of the river looking into the house."

Let's Be Fair
"So let us be fair about America. They've got this enormous problem of population, this great wealth, this great technique. But it is a world of its own. It is Europe and part of Asia now, planted in the New World."
